Fast-Thinking Store Owner Nabs Bandit, Rescues $415

. . . Two Others Aid In Capture; Thief Fakes Weapon

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

A quick-thinking and quick-acting liquor store owner, Arnold Strasheim subdued a robber he believed to be armed after the man had held him up taking $415 from Strasheim's Liquor Store at 140½ So. 11th Thursday evening.

A man identified by police as Alvie Taylor, 30, of 913 O Street was arrested by Lincoln Police in connection with the robbery.

He was jailed on an open charge after police said he was too drunk for questioning. Police took $415 from his trousers pocket.

The robber came in the liquor store where Strasheim was alone in the front of the store and said, "Do you know what tihs is?"

Arnold said 'no" and the man showed him a bulging right coat pocket with his hand in it.

"This is a gun," the man said and asked Strasheim for his money.

The store owner took $415 out of the cash register and laid it on the counter. The robber did not step behind the counter but took the money without question.

Strasheim said there was "several thousand dollars in an open safe" which was never touched.

The robber then told Strasheim to "go out with him." They both walked out the door side by side.

Customers Help

By chance two men started to enter the liquor store at the same time.

Strasheim, with a quick presence of mind, stepped in back of the robber and grasped him with both hands while the robber had both hands in his pockets.

Strasheim later said "he could have dragged me from here to Seward and I would still have hung on."

The robber said to Strasheim, "Lemme go, give me a break."

Strasheim yelled to the men about to enter the store to "hit the guy, he held me up."

Thought It Was Joke

"They thought I was joking," the liquor store owner said, "so I said 'no, I mean it, the guy held me up.'"

"He hit him about a dozen times," Strasheim said.

The robber was wriggling and twisting to get away, but both of the men, M. E. Anderson, 140 So. 45th, and L. R. Harney of Omaha stepped up and pummeled the robber with face blows.

"They hit him about a dozen times," Strasheim said.

The bloody hold-up man fell to the sidewalk and was held there until the police arrived. One of the men immediately called the police who arrested the robber and found him to be unarmed.

Gene Strasheim, cousin of the owner, said he was in the back room at the time and heard the conversation, but stayed hidden until the owner and the robber left the store.

The man was beaten badly about the face by the rain of blows.

Police counting the money found three $20 bills, 13 $10 bills, 39 $5 bills and 30 $1 bills.

Coaxing Job Will Proceed

North Koreans Finally Agree

PANMUNJOM (Friday) (AP)—The chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission said today bitterly anti-Communist North Korean prisoners of war have agreed to begin listening Saturday to Red pleas to come home.

The North Koreans—about 7,800—had refused since Oct. 16 to leave their compounds in the neutral zone for interviews with Communist "explanation" teams.

Their defiance, despite one show of force by Indian guard troops, had stalled the massive job before the Communist "explainers"—talking to about 22,400 anti-Red North Korean and Chinese POWs.

The chairman, Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, said he planned to have at least 500 North Koreans ready for interview by the Communists Saturday. He said the number may be increased to 1,000.

Thimayya had personally appealed to the North Koreans almost daily for more than a week.

He told newsmen who congratulated him: "Wait until tomorrow. I want to be certain they come out before there are any congratulations."

His announcement apparently was the "surprise" he had promised newsmen for today.

Thimayya said the North Koreans reached their decision Wednesday.

Asked if the North Koreans definitely would attend Red interviews, Thimayya said: "So they have agreed."

Despite a show of force by their Indian guards, the North Koreans had flatly refused to come out of their neutral zone compounds and listen to Communist attempts to persuade them to return to their homelands.

Overwhelming numbers of Chinese refused to go back to Red China, and the Communists finally insisted the North Koreans be brought out for interviews.

Thimayya said the North Koreans had been holding out for certain demands he did not disclose.

"I advised them to trust me and that I would see that they were treated with fairness and integrity."

19 Killed In Plane Crash

U.S. Concert Pianist William Kapell Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two minutes from its destination, a four-engine trans-Pacific plane from Australia rocketed into a fog-hidden hill Thursday and all 19 persons aboard died in the flaming wreckage.

The brilliant young American concert pianist, William Kapell, 31, of New York, was among the 11 passengers and eight crewmen so close to safe arrival at San Francisco International Airport when the British Commonwealth Pacific Airlines plane crashed. He was returning from a tour of Australia.

(Kapell appeared with the Lincoln Symphony Orechestra in concert on two occasions. His first Lincoln concert was in January, 1945, and the second on May 1, 1951.)

The big DC-6, flying in from Honolulu, was smashed to bits.

Fires covered a half mile area of dense brush and redwoods, 25 miles south of San Francisco.

The pilot, Capt. Bruce Dixon, of Sydney, had attempted an instrument approach because fog shrouded the coastal mountains which rise up to more than 2,000 feet.

An airline official in Honolulu said Kapell almost stayed over in the islands, then decided at the last minute to continue the fatal flight. He was the only U.S. citizen aboard.

Hunting Accident Kills Gering Man

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—A blast from a 16 gauge shotgun took the life of a Gering farmer Thursday in what county authorities said was a hunting accident.

Killed was Christopher J. Romick, 46, who was hunting alone on his farm 2½ miles southeast of Gering.

County Attorney Hans J. Holtorf, acting as coroner, said evidence at the scene and the course of the shot indicated Romick was killed when he slipped and his gun was discharged.

Hickman Boy Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Roger D. McGinnis, 15, of Hickman, was partially conscious and in "fair" condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital early Friday morning after being thrown from a car at a country road intersection crash just north of Hickman.

State Patrolman B. R. O'Neal said a car driven by McGinnis was involved in a collision with one driven by Glenn E. Buis, 17, of Firth. The Buis car overturned.

McGinnis suffered lacerations of the head and bruises.

Ad Managers Meeting Set

A sales clinic will be presented by the Bureau of Advertising at a two-day meeting of the Nebraska Daily Advertising Managers Association at the Lincoln Hotel this week-end.

The clinic will open Friday afternoon with a panel discussion of latest ideas on how to make advertising more effective.

On the panel will be Bureau of Advertising personnel: Ed Burgeson, director of the retail division, New York City, Charles Hilbner, western retail manager at Chicago, Dent Hassinger, western manager at the Chicago office.

There will be a banquet Friday evening and a Saturday morning meeting followed by luncheon.

Between 50 and 60 members of the Nebraska group are expected to attend.

Freed GI Is Charged With PW Murder

WASHINGTON (INS)—A repatriated GI was accused by the Army Thursday of murdering "one or two" of his fellow American prisoners while in a North Korean Red prison camp.

The murder charges filed against Sgt. Rothwell B. Floyd constitute the first known effort to prosecute a former American prisoner in the Korean conflict.

A Pentagon spokesman said there was no information available in Washington whether prison camp fights between so-called "progressives"—prisoners who co-operated with the Communists in hope of better treatment—and non-progressives figured in events leading to the alleged slayings.

The Army said the murder charges grew out of evidence compiled from interviews with other former American prisoners.

The Pentagon declined to identify the alleged murder victims and refused comment on whether other GI's might be involved in the case.

The presentation is an outgrowth of a suggestion Mayor Clark Jeary made to officials of the radio station after they had recorded the dedication ceremony.

21 Invited To Submit Entries For Capitol Rotunda Murals

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Selected muralists have been invited to submit exhibits and records from which 4 or 5 will enter final competition for selection to complete murals in the rotunda of the Capitol, the Murals Commission has informed Gov. Crosby.

Included in the 21 invited to enter the competition are two Nebraskans, Leroy Burket of the University of Nebraska and Leonard Thiessen of Omaha. Selection was made by a subcommittee of the commission headed by Col. Harry F. Cunningham, U. S. A., retired, of Lincoln.

The murals will consist of three panels on the balcony level of the rotunda and will be 15x24 feet in size.

Sketches Required

Preliminary information on work of the selected artists has been requested not later than Nov. 25. Sketches will be required in the final competition between the four or five top chosen painters.

Lee Lawrie, sculptor in the original construction of the building, will be one member of the committee doing the preliminary judging. He will also serve on the final awards committee as will Miss Hildreth Meiere, designer of the floors and decorative tile in the building.

Other members of the final awards committee will consist of an architect and two art museum directors.

From N. Y. C.

Others in addition to the Nebraskans invited to compete include six residents of New York City. They are Kenneth Evett, Robert Gwathmey, Jean Van Noten, Henry Vernum Poor and Edward Laning.

Others invited: Raymond Wendell, Jackson Heights, N.Y.; Francis Scott Bradford, Cornwall Bridge, Conn.; Mitchell Siporin, Brighton, Mass.; Edward Millman, Woodstock, N. Y.; Edward Britton, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Fred Conway, Webster Groves, Mo.; Tom Lea, El Paso, Tex.; Robert M. Hansen, Peoria, Ill.; Allen True, Denver, Colo.; Howard Cook, Taos, N. M.; Peter Hurd, San Patrico, N. M.; Conrad Albrizio, New Orleans, and Ward Lockwood of the University of California.

The last session of the Legislature appropriated $40,000 for painting the murals with not to exceed $4,000 to be spent by the commission for expenses and consultants.

Support Of Ammo Law Is Pledged

Truckers Praise City For 'Sensible Approach'

At a meeting with Welfare and Safety Director Ray Osborn, trucking firms that haul explosives through Lincoln pledged their support and co-operation with the city's ordinance governing the transportation of ammunition through the city.

The truckers also praised the city for what they said was a "very sensible approach to the problem."

Railway Commissioner Joseph Brown commented that the regulation "should keep trouble down to a minimum."

Osborn opened the meeting with an explanation of the Lincoln regulations and warned that "the rules will be enforced." He explained to the truckers that they would be required to stop at ports of entry outside the city and secure a police escort through the town.

Keep Records

At the ports, explained Osborn, police officers will check the truck lights, electric wiring, tires and other routine danger points. Permanent records of the inspections will be kept, said Osborn, and reports on the inspections made to the trucking firms and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The truckers were also told by Osborn that two ammunition trucks traveling in one block at the same time will be prohibited, that trucks will not be allowed to stop except for traffic signals and signs within the city, that all traffic rules must be obeyed and that a maximum speed limit of 25 miles per hour must be observed.

"I don't see a thing unreasonable in this," said Osborn, "and I don't believe you (truckers) will find any thing to object to. Our City Council has been very fair and does not want to delay you in any way.

"You will also find that we have a fine police department to work with you."

The truckers expressed their approval of the plan.

"If we had inspection points all along our lines across the state," said one trucker, "it would be the best thing that ever happened to us."

Woman Hurt In Fall Into 14-Foot Cistern

Mrs. Harry Taylor of 4642 Madison was reported in good condition Thursday after she suffered cuts and bruises when she fell into a 14-foot cistern in the back of her yard.

University Place firemen rescued Mrs. Taylor from the abandoned cistern with a ladder. They said she evidently had fallen into the hole because it was covered with leaves and couldn't be seen.

She was treated at Bryan Memorial Hospital where she is being held for observation.

Designated Gas, Explosive Routes Best, Feaster Says

Lincoln's fire chief, E. Paul Feaster, writes in the latest issue of Fire Engineering, tradesman journal, that designated routes for gas and explosives trucks is the best way to solve the problem.

Feaster, who himself during his firefighting days, has fought fires involving both gas and oil trucks, said in the journal that an ordinance to enforce the routes would be desirable. He also said that the law should be strictly enforced by the police department.

LaFollette Says:

Wisconsin Vote Spells Work For GOP

A former Wisconsin governor —holding that office for three terms — said in Lincoln Thursday that the Democratic congressional victory in that state's Ninth District means that the "Republicans are going to have to work in 1954 to hold on to their majority."

Philip F. LaFollette addressed the annual convention of the Nebraska State Education Association, District 1.

LaFollette added that the victory could not be termed only as an expression of the district's dissatisfaction with Republican farm policies. "It was an urban as well as a rural victory," he said.

"The Democratic candidate carried 13 of Eau Claire's 16 wards and Eau Claire is a city of some 30,000 population," LaFollette stated.

When asked if Sen. Joseph McCarthy's popularity in his home state is as strong as ever, LaFollette commented briefly that the senator had run about 250,000 votes behind the Republican national ticket in the last campaign.

"He (McCarthy) is shooting at a good target," he added, "but he's using a blunderbuss where he should be using a rifle."

LaFollette, the son of the late Robert LaFollette who served in the Senate and later ran for president on the Progressive ticket, served three terms as governor — running each time on the Progressive ticket. He was defeated when he ran for his fourth term. During World War II, LaFollette served on Gen. MacArthur's staff in the Pacific. He was a colonel in the Army Infantry.

Support Of Ammo Law Is Pledged

Truckers Praise City For 'Sensible Approach'

At a meeting with Welfare and Safety Director Ray Osborn, trucking firms that haul explosives through Lincoln pledged their support and co-operation with the city's ordinance governing the transportation of ammunition through the city.

The truckers also praised the city for what they said was a "very sensible approach to the problem."

Railway Commissioner Joseph Brown commented that the regulation "should keep trouble down to a minimum."

Osborn opened the meeting with an explanation of the Lincoln regulations and warned that "the rules will be enforced." He explained to the truckers that they would be required to stop at ports of entry outside the city and secure a police escort through the town.

Keep Records

At the ports, explained Osborn, police officers will check the truck lights, electric wiring, tires and other routine danger points. Permanent records of the inspections will be kept, said Osborn, and reports on the inspections made to the trucking firms and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The truckers were also told by Osborn that two ammunition trucks traveling in one block at the same time will be prohibited, that trucks will not be allowed to stop except for traffic signals and signs within the city, that all traffic rules must be obeyed and that a maximum speed limit of 25 miles per hour must be observed.

"I don't see a thing unreasonable in this," said Osborn, "and I don't believe you (truckers) will find any thing to object to. Our City Council has been very fair and does not want to delay you in any way.

"You will also find that we have a fine police department to work with you."

The truckers expressed their approval of the plan.

"If we had inspection points all along our lines across the state," said one trucker, "it would be the best thing that ever happened to us."

Designated Gas, Explosive Routes Best, Feaster Says

Lincoln's fire chief, E. Paul Feaster, writes in the latest issue of Fire Engineering, tradesman journal, that designated routes for gas and explosives trucks is the best way to solve the problem.

Feaster, who himself during his firefighting days, has fought fires involving both gas and oil trucks, said in the journal that an ordinance to enforce the routes would be desirable. He also said that the law should be strictly enforced by the police department.

19 Killed In Plane Crash

U.S. Concert Pianist William Kapell Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two minutes from its destination, a four-engine trans-Pacific plane from Australia rocketed into a fog-hidden hill Thursday and all 19 persons aboard died in the flaming wreckage.

The brilliant young American concert pianist, William Kapell, 31, of New York, was among the 11 passengers and eight crewmen so close to safe arrival at San Francisco International Airport when the British Commonwealth Pacific Airlines plane crashed. He was returning from a tour of Australia.

(Kapell appeared with the Lincoln Symphony Orechestra in concert on two occasions. His first Lincoln concert was in January, 1945, and the second on May 1, 1951.)

The big DC-6, flying in from Honolulu, was smashed to bits.

Fires covered a half mile area of dense brush and redwoods, 25 miles south of San Francisco.

The pilot, Capt. Bruce Dixon, of Sydney, had attempted an instrument approach because fog shrouded the coastal mountains which rise up to more than 2,000 feet.

An airline official in Honolulu said Kapell almost stayed over in the islands, then decided at the last minute to continue the fatal flight. He was the only U.S. citizen aboard.

Ad Managers Meeting Set

A sales clinic will be presented by the Bureau of Advertising at a two-day meeting of the Nebraska Daily Advertising Managers Association at the Lincoln Hotel this week-end.

The clinic will open Friday afternoon with a panel discussion of latest ideas on how to make advertising more effective.

On the panel will be Bureau of Advertising personnel: Ed Burgeson, director of the retail division, New York City, Charles Hilbner, western retail manager at Chicago, Dent Hassinger, western manager at the Chicago office.

There will be a banquet Friday evening and a Saturday morning meeting followed by luncheon.

Between 50 and 60 members of the Nebraska group are expected to attend.

Freed GI Is Charged With PW Murder

WASHINGTON (INS)—A repatriated GI was accused by the Army Thursday of murdering "one or two" of his fellow American prisoners while in a North Korean Red prison camp.

The murder charges filed against Sgt. Rothwell B. Floyd constitute the first known effort to prosecute a former American prisoner in the Korean conflict.

A Pentagon spokesman said there was no information available in Washington whether prison camp fights between so-called "progressives"—prisoners who co-operated with the Communists in hope of better treatment—and non-progressives figured in events leading to the alleged slayings.

The Army said the murder charges grew out of evidence compiled from interviews with other former American prisoners.

The Pentagon declined to identify the alleged murder victims and refused comment on whether other GI's might be involved in the case.

Woman Hurt In Fall Into 14-Foot Cistern

Mrs. Harry Taylor of 4642 Madison was reported in good condition Thursday after she suffered cuts and bruises when she fell into a 14-foot cistern in the back of her yard.

University Place firemen rescued Mrs. Taylor from the abandoned cistern with a ladder. They said she evidently had fallen into the hole because it was covered with leaves and couldn't be seen.

She was treated at Bryan Memorial Hospital where she is being held for observation.

Hunting Accident Kills Gering Man

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—A blast from a 16 gauge shotgun took the life of a Gering farmer Thursday in what county authorities said was a hunting accident.

Killed was Christopher J. Romick, 46, who was hunting alone on his farm 2½ miles southeast of Gering.

County Attorney Hans J. Holtorf, acting as coroner, said evidence at the scene and the course of the shot indicated Romick was killed when he slipped and his gun was discharged.

Hickman Boy Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Roger D. McGinnis, 15, of Hickman, was partially conscious and in "fair" condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital early Friday morning after being thrown from a car at a country road intersection crash just north of Hickman.

State Patrolman B. R. O'Neal said a car driven by McGinnis was involved in a collision with one driven by Glenn E. Buis, 17, of Firth. The Buis car overturned.

McGinnis suffered lacerations of the head and bruises.

LaFollette Says:

Wisconsin Vote Spells Work For GOP

A former Wisconsin governor —holding that office for three terms — said in Lincoln Thursday that the Democratic congressional victory in that state's Ninth District means that the "Republicans are going to have to work in 1954 to hold on to their majority."

Philip F. LaFollette addressed the annual convention of the Nebraska State Education Association, District 1.

LaFollette added that the victory could not be termed only as an expression of the district's dissatisfaction with Republican farm policies. "It was an urban as well as a rural victory," he said.

"The Democratic candidate carried 13 of Eau Claire's 16 wards and Eau Claire is a city of some 30,000 population," LaFollette stated.

When asked if Sen. Joseph McCarthy's popularity in his home state is as strong as ever, LaFollette commented briefly that the senator had run about 250,000 votes behind the Republican national ticket in the last campaign.

"He (McCarthy) is shooting at a good target," he added, "but he's using a blunderbuss where he should be using a rifle."

LaFollette, the son of the late Robert LaFollette who served in the Senate and later ran for president on the Progressive ticket, served three terms as governor — running each time on the Progressive ticket. He was defeated when he ran for his fourth term. During World War II, LaFollette served on Gen. MacArthur's staff in the Pacific. He was a colonel in the Army Infantry.

Sales Tax Not Answer, Gov. Crosby Says

"I don't think the sales tax is any remedy for our basic property tax problems," Gov. Robert Crosby said Thursday. He said that if he was ever confronted by a state sales tax he would not want any of the funds thus raised to go for any purpose other than to replace state property taxes.

He commented in connection with suggestions that if the state were to have a sales tax part of the money should go to state aid for education. Experience of other governors, he said, has raised a big question in his mind as to the advisability of state aid to schools. He saw the problem complicated by Nebraska having more school districts than other states.

Talk about a sales tax has centered around a 2 per cent levy which it is estimated would raise 26½ million dollars a year. The state property tax levy is raising some 19 million dollars this year.

Crosby said, "what would you do with the surplus?"

Then he suggested that if a sales tax were enacted it might be wise to leave it up to such a body as the State Board of Equalization to set the amount of the sales tax at a figure that would raise only what was needed by the state government as appropriated by the Legislature.

MOTHER OF QUADS WEDS IN HOSPITAL

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—At a hastily-arranged bedside marriage ceremony, Lansing's Trollman quadruplets Thursday found a father and became the Van Alstine quads.

Mrs. June Trollman, pretty brunette divorcee, mother of the quads, was married in a simple ceremony to George W. Van Alstine, 34, strapping Lansing automobile serviceman.

"I'm really happy now for the first time in months," the bride declared.

Marring the happiness for the couple was the death of one of the as yet unnamed quads—the last born, a boy known only as "Baby Boy D."

Van Alstine told newsmen he was the father of the quads.

1 Killed In Blast

CHICAGO (AP) — A big lake tanker carrying 580,000 gallons of gasoline blew up in Lake Michigan Thursday.

One crewman died and two others were injured when the 253-foot Blue Comet burst into flames in Calumet Harbor, a mile off shore at 92nd Street. Eight other crew members and the tanker's skipper, Capt. Charles E. Quarry, 36, of East Lyme, Conn., were rescued uninjured.

The cause of the blast was not determined.

Wagner Loses

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (INS)—State Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein Thursday night upheld the right of the New York State Board of Parole to keep confidential its files on those persons trying to obtain a release of labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay from prison.

Robert F. Wagner Jr., the Democratic candidate for mayor of New York City, had sought in a taxpayer's suit to force the parole board to release a list of names of those seeking parole for the powerful labor leader.

Farmers Backed

WASHINGTON (INS) — The CIO charged Thursday that the administration's farm policy is leading the country to the "brink of economic disaster" and said the organization will do all in its power to back farmers "in their fight for economic equity."

The blast was issued by CIO President Walter P. Reuther who said the CIO believes the people will not stand idly by while the administration fails to act.

Ava, Frankie Split

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The two-year marriage of Ava Gardner, a glamorous farmer's daughter, and Frank Sinatra, an underweight crooner, hit the rocks Thursday.

Miss Gardner said she would file for divorce but was undecided when.

"It's final this time," she said. "There's no chance of reconciliation." She gave no reason for the split. To the question whether a third party was involved, she answered no.

Violation Charged

TOKYO, Friday (AP)—The chief of the South Korean Air Force today said the Communists have repaired all 30 of their air fields in North Korea and have moved about 400 fighter planes south of their old Yalu River sanctuary.

The armistice agreement between Allies and Communists forbids the bringing of planes into either North or South Korea except as "replacements" for other aircraft.

Platte River Water Expected To Reach Columbus Nov. 1

State Irrigation Chief Dan Jones believes there may be water in the Platte River by Nov. 1 if the present rate of flow past Grand Island continues.

But that will depend on the temperature, he adds. Water in the Platte reached Grand Island Oct. 22 following the halt of irrigation activities between the Kingsley Dam and Kearney and the return of water to the river after it had been used for power purposes.

Earlier this week water began flowing past Central City.

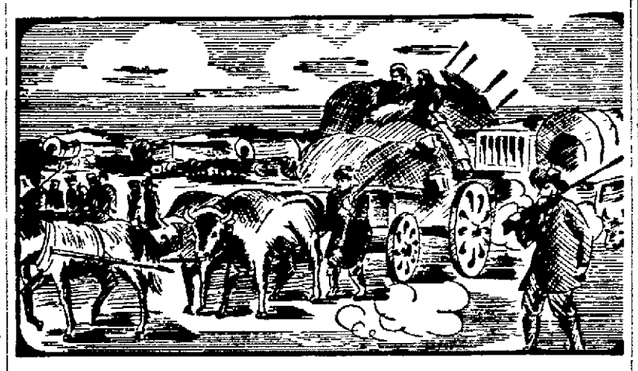
It Happened In NEBRASKA...



All Nebraska was a "highway" to courageous Mormon wagon trains pushing west 100 years ago . . . when a hard, sunrise-to-sunset journey brought them only a few miles nearer their goal. Altogether the Mormon trek from Nauvoo, Illinois, to the Great Salt Lake took many, many months. Today a six-hour trip by plane!

Another form of pioneering has been carried on by the brewing industry. Through its educational program, tavern operators have learned the value of keeping Nebraska taverns clean, model places of business.

Nancy Carr's Voice And Personality Bring Delight To Capacity Audience

Nancy Carr delighted a near capacity audience at St. Paul church Thursday night with her melodic soprano voice and charming stage personality.

The young, talented Miss Carr was presented in concert by the Nebraska State Education Association in conjunction with the District 1 convention.

The highlight of the concert was her presentation of contemporary English tunes with the audience delighting in her interpretation of "In the Woods" by Paul Bowles.

Miss Carr's interpretative ability and wide vocal range were best displayed in an aria from "Adriana Lecouvreur" by Francesco Gilea. She presented two delightful groups of French and German songs including numbers by Claude Debussy, Jacques Offenbach and Richard Strauss.

The audience was disappointed that Miss Carr, a frequent radio and television soloist, did not include any selections from her operetta and musical comedy roles.

Miss Carr's accompanist, Richard McFadden, presented three piano selections which, although lacking in warmth, displayed his great technical ability. The highlight of his portion of the concert was his presentation of "Etude in forme de Valse" by Saint-Saens.

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

Educator M. R. Madden, Ph.D., continues his review of "Politics in Action":

"It is certainly not the fault of Jefferson or the Declaration of Independence that Professor Holcombe does not apparently believe in the equality of natural rights or choose to recognize their relation to civil rights.

"The Americans of 1776, however, were quite clear on what they understood these rights to be and understood also that their natural rights which belong to them by the conditions of their human nature were inalienable and vitally important.

"It is Professor Holcombe himself who draws the conclusion that if these natural rights were inalienable then they were 'few in number and unimportant in use.' Furthermore, these Americans considered that natural rights were the possession of all mankind not just of the generation of 1776.

"The reader cannot expect that Professor Holcombe, thus fundamentally confused on the Declaration of Independence, will be much of a guide on the problems of representative government or be able to solve the problem in the frame of reference he presents, i.e., the adjustment of relations between the individual and the state and between the various interest groups with both the state and the individual (p. 12).

"The Problem

"The author inverts the problem as the Americans saw it when they adopted both the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. These Americans had a definite philosophy of government, which can be deduced from the documents, and which was discussed at length in many of the pamphlets of the period and particularly in 'The Federalist'. Professor Holcombe, however, does not seem to be at all interested in the facts of this situation. What he is interested in is something he calls democracy, and he can find no political philosopher who has given a scientific analysis of the problem of democracy.

"The author gets little help from the men of the Constitutional Convention of 1787, which is not surprising seeing that they did not discuss democracy at all. They were working on a plan for a government which would be adequate to needs and not arbitrary. The author does not like the tone of their debates. He find them 'dominated by the spirit of empiricism' (p. 13).

"As far as this reviewer can make out from the author's obiter dicta, empiricism seems to be that which rejects 'rationalistic doctrines of sovereignty', 'universal assumptions concerning the nature of man', looking only to experience with 'a persistent partiality for sensible compromises in adjusting the conflicts of interest which arose within the convention' (pp. 14-15)."

1 Killed In Blast

CHICAGO (AP) — A big lake tanker carrying 580,000 gallons of gasoline blew up in Lake Michigan Thursday.

One crewman died and two others were injured when the 253-foot Blue Comet burst into flames in Calumet Harbor, a mile off shore at 92nd Street. Eight other crew members and the tanker's skipper, Capt. Charles E. Quarry, 36, of East Lyme, Conn., were rescued uninjured.

The cause of the blast was not determined.

Wagner Loses

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (INS)—State Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein Thursday night upheld the right of the New York State Board of Parole to keep confidential its files on those persons trying to obtain a release of labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay from prison.

Robert F. Wagner Jr., the Democratic candidate for mayor of New York City, had sought in a taxpayer's suit to force the parole board to release a list of names of those seeking parole for the powerful labor leader.

Farmers Backed

WASHINGTON (INS) — The CIO charged Thursday that the administration's farm policy is leading the country to the "brink of economic disaster" and said the organization will do all in its power to back farmers "in their fight for economic equity."

The blast was issued by CIO President Walter P. Reuther who said the CIO believes the people will not stand idly by while the administration fails to act.

Ava, Frankie Split

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The two-year marriage of Ava Gardner, a glamorous farmer's daughter, and Frank Sinatra, an underweight crooner, hit the rocks Thursday.

Miss Gardner said she would file for divorce but was undecided when.

"It's final this time," she said. "There's no chance of reconciliation." She gave no reason for the split. To the question whether a third party was involved, she answered no.

Violation Charged

TOKYO, Friday (AP)—The chief of the South Korean Air Force today said the Communists have repaired all 30 of their air fields in North Korea and have moved about 400 fighter planes south of their old Yalu River sanctuary.

The armistice agreement between Allies and Communists forbids the bringing of planes into either North or South Korea except as "replacements" for other aircraft.

Platte River Water Expected To Reach Columbus Nov. 1

State Irrigation Chief Dan Jones believes there may be water in the Platte River by Nov. 1 if the present rate of flow past Grand Island continues.

But that will depend on the temperature, he adds. Water in the Platte reached Grand Island Oct. 22 following the halt of irrigation activities between the Kingsley Dam and Kearney and the return of water to the river after it had been used for power purposes.

Earlier this week water began flowing past Central City.

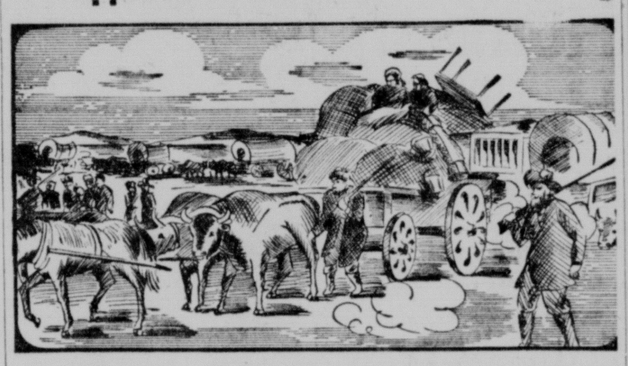
It Happened In NEBRASKA---



All Nebraska was a "highway" to courageous Mormon wagon trains pushing west 100 years ago . . . when a hard, sunrise-to-sunset journey brought them only a few miles nearer their goal. Altogether the Mormon trek from Nauvoo, Illinois, to the Great Salt Lake took many, many months. Today a six-hour trip by plane!

Another form of pioneering has been carried on by the brewing industry. Through its educational program, tavern operators have learned the value of keeping Nebraska taverns clean, model places of business.

Nancy Carr's Voice And Personality Bring Delight To Capacity Audience

Nancy Carr delighted a near capacity audience at St. Paul church Thursday night with her melodic soprano voice and charming stage personality.

The young, talented Miss Carr was presented in concert by the Nebraska State Education Association in conjunction with the District 1 convention.

The highlight of the concert was her presentation of contemporary English tunes with the audience delighting in her interpretation of "In the Woods" by Paul Bowles.

Miss Carr's interpretative ability and wide vocal range were best displayed in an aria from "Adriana Lecouvreur" by Francesco Gilea. She presented two delightful groups of French and German songs including numbers by Claude Debussy, Jacques Offenbach and Richard Strauss.

The audience was disappointed that Miss Carr, a frequent radio and television soloist, did not include any selections from her operetta and musical comedy roles.

Miss Carr's accompanist, Richard McFadden, presented three piano selections which, although lacking in warmth, displayed his great technical ability. The highlight of his portion of the concert was his presentation of "Etude in forme de Valse" by Saint-Saens.

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

Educator M. R. Madden, Ph.D., continues his review of "Politics in Action":

"It is certainly not the fault of Jefferson or the Declaration of Independence that Professor Holcombe does not apparently believe in the equality of natural rights or choose to recognize their relation to civil rights.

"The Americans of 1776, however, were quite clear on what they understood these rights to be and understood also that their natural rights which belong to them by the conditions of their human nature were inalienable and vitally important.

"It is Professor Holcombe himself who draws the conclusion that if these natural rights were inalienable then they were 'few in number and unimportant in use'. Furthermore, these Americans considered that natural rights were the possession of all mankind, not just of the generation of 1776.

"The reader cannot expect that Professor Holcombe, thus fundamentally confused on the Declaration of Independence, will be much of a guide on the problems of representative government or be able to solve the problem in the frame of reference he presents, i.e., the adjustment of relations between the individual and the state and between the various interest groups with both the state and the individual (p. 12).

"The Problem

"The author inverts the problem as the Americans saw it when they adopted both the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. These Americans had a definite philosophy of government, which can be deduced from the documents, and which was discussed at length in many of the pamphlets of the period and particularly in 'The Federalist'. Professor Holcombe, however, does not seem to be at all interested in the facts of this situation. What he is interested in is something he calls democracy, and he can find no political philosopher who has given a scientific analysis of the problem of democracy.

"The author gets little help from the men of the Constitutional Convention of 1787, which is not surprising seeing that they did not discuss democracy at all. They were working on a plan for a government which would be adequate to needs and not arbitrary. The author does not like the tone of their debates. He find them 'dominated by the spirit of empiricism' (p. 13).

"As far as this reviewer can make out from the author's obiter dicta, empiricism seems to be that which rejects 'rationalistic doctrines of sovereignity', 'universal assumptions concerning the nature of man', looking only to experience with 'a persistent partiality for sensible compromises in adjusting the conflicts of interest which arose within the convention' (pp. 14-15)."

Bids On Gasoline For State Use Fall Below Level Of 1952

Bids on an estimated 2,405,000 gallons of gasoline to be used by the state of Nebraska next year were all lower than those submitted last year, Blaine Yoder, state purchasing agent, announced Thursday

The new contract year will begin Nov. 15 and prices include state tax and delivery to six points in the state Bids are on the basis of the Tulsa quotation of .11375 cents per gallon Thursday and will vary in proportion to Tulsa changes throughout the year In addition there is a 6 cent tax.

The low bid submitted by the Mumby Oil Co, Fairbury, and comparison with last year at the various delivery points was.

	1952	1953
Ainsworth	1913	1913
Norfolk	1885	1885
North Platte	1915	1915
Bridgeport	1915	1885
Grand Island	1905	1854
Lincoln	1885	1854

On an estimated 820,000 gallons of diesel fuel, Mumby was again low for deliveries at Norfolk and Bridgeport with bids of .10125 cents at Norfolk a compared with 113 cents last year and 10125 at Bridgeport compared to 106 cents

Clayton Peterson, St Paul, was low for Ainsworth deliveries at .113 cents compared with 1175 cents last year and 0995 cents at Grand Island compared with .104 cents last year

North Platte and Lincoln bids were not decided, Yoder said, due to Saunders Petroleum Co, Kansas City, making different bids for summer and winter delivery while Mumby submitted a year around bid.

The Mix that makes a BIG cake!

All Within A Week

The President was discovering that the pressures to which his office subjects him are a little bit difficult sometimes to reconcile with high-minded, sound conceptions of the office.

A week ago Mr. Eisenhower told newsmen he wasn't going to use the presidency as a campaign instrument in partisan elections and would stay out of strictly local political scraps. GOP National Chairman Hall had a chat with the President after Mr. Eisenhower outlined his views. Others, we assume, including Republican members of Congress, not a little bit bewildered and somewhat concerned over the Democratic victory in the Wisconsin House district which never before had sent a Democrat to Washington, may have contributed a little talk. So at his press conference Wednesday, the President told the representatives of the press that he is interested in Republican organization and in keeping Congress under GOP control.

And that is that.

In seven days the President in a measure finds it necessary to eat his own words. Even after Mr. Eisenhower had outlined what appeared to be a lofty conception of President, the trip to the Southwest from which he returned presented its contradiction. He attended several Republican political rallies. He issued a statement favoring the election of the Republican candidate for the office of mayor of New York City. He said he hoped to see Sen. Leverett Saltonstall and Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusets, re-elected. All of that is understandable enough and is to be expected. And at the same time, it collides violently with the idea that the White House is above politics and wholly removed from partisanship. It never can be.

If the President gives an impression of confusion and uncertainty, of changing his mind from one day to another, one explanation could be that the job he occupies actually isn't the job he thought it was.

What Is The Ceiling?

What amount can the American people afford to spend annually towards the conservation of natural resources? More than a shift from Washington to Denver seems to be involved in the announcement by the Reclamation Bureau of the Department of Interior Wednesday that many of its major activities will move west.

Reclamation Bureau structure as it now exists, the assistant secretary of the interior, Fred G. Aandahl, said, was set up several years ago in the anticipation that the construction program would run from 500 to 700 million dollars annually. However, Mr. Aandahl continued, top appropriations never reached more than about 300 million dollars a year, and currently are running at only about half that amount. The new organization contemplates a continuing construction program around 150 million dollars a year, although next year's budget request probably will be slightly less than the one for the current year for which Congress voted 147 million dollars.

We doubt that Uncle Sam gets a better return for the dollars he spends than the benefits he collects from the conservation and preservation of natural resources. We are a mature nation, we say. We are mature, at least, when it comes to land. There is no cheap land available. All of it has been claimed, settled and developed. Our forests have been utilized—our grazing domain exploited. Our mineral wealth has been drawn upon heavily. It was these matchless resources and the use made of them that contributed fairly-like qualities to the American success story of the last century.

It is quite obvious that this administration plans to slow down the pace of development. There will be less of river basin development. There appears to be less attention to be given the forests and to other resources. All of this is screened behind the slogan that government should step in only when private enterprise cannot do the job. The slogan sounds good but the public will discover that in practice, it is slightly different than in theory.

We can spend billions for arms—billions for other purposes which contribute to national security. And yet one great factor in national security, a factor indispensable to continuance of American standards of living and to national economic good health, is intensifying, if anything, rather than diminishing the program of conservation of natural resources.

Of Men And Things

Everybody's business is nobody's business, it has been said. At the Lancaster County courthouse, County Attorney Frederick Wagener was giving thought to action looking towards recovery of an estimated $50,000 of gasoline funds which the county did not get due to the delay of applying a new formula for reapportioning gasoline tax money among the 93 counties of the state.

★

Ordinarily when money is due to a recipient, that recipient knows how much is due him and see to it that he collects. That does not seem to be the case in applying the new reapportionment formula approved by the Legislature in 1945 to determine apportionment to the counties of gasoline tax funds due the counties. That new apportionment formula was based upon population gains or losses determined by the census of 1950—and upon car registrations within the counties. There may have been some mitigating circumstances for the delay in applying the new formula. If official figures were to be used, the rural census within the counties generally follows announcement of the population count for towns and cities by several months. Here it is, near the close of 1953—three years after the census was taken—and the assumption naturally is that the official census figures for both rural and urban population in all of the 93 Nebraska counties were available months ago.

Alertness On Local Level

County Engineer Louis Weaver was quoted as saying that he was aware that Lancaster was losing some revenue due it, from the use of the 1940 figures, but he did not realize the figure was so high. Mr. Weaver seems to have left himself open to criticism because he took no action himself and because he did not acquaint the Lancaster County Board of Commissioners that the 1940 formula was still in use.

★

Then, of course, in addition to the county engineer, we believe it is not unreasonable to anticipate that the County Board of Commissioners, of which young Russell Brehm is chairman, should be expected to know what goes on. The duties and responsibilities of a member of the county board are a little bit indefinite. Generally membership is not a full-time job. In Lancaster we have the notion that Commissioner Chris Kuhner actually puts in more time at his desk than his two colleagues, although that impression may be a mistake. We talk a lot about Big Government at a distance, pointing a finger towards Washington; and we speak about decline of local government, but there are a great many occasions when local government appears to be as wide open to criticism as federal government. The only criticism involved in all of this matter is the procrastination in applying the new formula for apportioning the gasoline tax. As a result some counties, most of the 93, it is said, got less than they should have received. A smaller number received more than they should have.

What About The County Board?

The state treasurer was slow in getting around to applying the new formula. He in turn, following the practice that had prevailed, looked to a division of the Highway Department. And on the local level, the county, it would seem particularly in those cases where counties were entitled to more than they got, those who should have been most interested had their eyes shut.

Welcome, Teachers

A friendly and appreciative welcome meets the school people who have opened their annual First District Nebraska State Teachers Convention here. The annual event is one of the high points in the Lincoln year. No finer people than those engaged in teaching our children can come to any community.

We know it will be pleasant to take a brief recess from class room work to meet old friends, make new ones, be refreshed by professional discourse, survey the latest educational innovations, look to the betterment of the teaching association and sample the city's best brand of hospitality. Make the most of it.

We are all reminded of education's tremendous force and the great responsibilties that attend those who work in that field. The difference between the primitive and today's civilized man is to a large degree his education. Man could not have arisen without it. If it declines, man will go backward. If it is misdirected, he will become dangerous. We know our teachers understand this, if others sometimes do not. They will deal thoughtfully with their convention tasks. And good, as usual, will come from it.

Halloween

In a few more days it will be Halloween again and custom will force the young fry out into the night to perform impish acts considerably out of character for the average polite and gently reared American child. No one has ever stopped to rationalize it. Custom simply demands it. And probably the ones who like it least are the little children. The only ones we know who would really relish the spirit of the occasion are the Malenkovs and the Gromykos. They are engaged in soap-writing on windows and after-dark mischief in general. We vote to make those Reds a present of our autumn observance. It is one thing we have they would appreciate and a thing we could give away without loss.

Make Mine Vanilla

If the human race manages to get through the early stages of the atomic age without being blown up, there is promise of fine things ahead, mainly solutions of the farm problem and the high cost of living. Vannevar Bush, president of the Carnegie Foundation, has notified the world that algae holds the answer to the future food problem. There are 17,000 different species of which quite a number will prove edible, nourishing and perhaps tasty. It will be a high protein food, produced any time, any where and in wonderful abundance. One variety has already been tried in soup and eaten with lots of smacking of the lips. Don't get that finicky look. Humankind has been eating seaweed for years and it's an algae.

Dulles Sees Duty In Telling The People

WASHINGTON—White House advisers say that when and if Charles E. Wilson steps out of the Defense Department, his successor will be Gen. Lucious Clay, former U.S. commander in Germany, now head of Continental Can and one of Ike's closest unofficial advisers.

"Clay can have any job he wants in the administration," one White House adviser confided. "He can write his own ticket. I think, also, he's ready any time Ike needs him."

Actually Wilson isn't expected to get out of the Defense Department any time soon. Occasionally the President has got upset over his defense secretary's sudden brusqueness and was extremely irked when Wilson shot off about the innocuousness of the Russian H-bomb at a time when other administration leaders were warning of its danger.

However, it's recognized that Wilson is performing a useful and necessary function by knocking Pentagon heads together—one of the toughest and most thankless jobs in Washington.

NOTE — When and if Gen. Clay becomes secretary of defense, he would have to get a special dispensation from Congress. For no military man can be appointed to that post unless he's been out of the Armed Services for 10 years. Gen. Marshall got such a dispensation.

DULLES AND PRESS

John Foster Dulles doesn't have the best press in the world, but he is sincerely dedicated to the idea that the American people are entitled to know just as much as possible about the conduct of their foreign affairs. At present he is engaged in opening up more avenues of information to the public; also has brought Henry Suydam, editor of the Newark, N.J., News and former press aide to Charles Evans Hughes, to take over State Department public relations.

Compared with other Eisenhower officials, the State Department today shines as a beacon of light when it comes to giving information to the public.

Most people don't realize how much behind-the-scenes work goes into the holding of a State Department press conference. Actually, the secretary of state begins preparing for the conference one hour in advance. At 10 a.m. his top officials come in to brief him on the latest news from Trieste, Israel, Korea, and other trouble spots. They also bring him a written summary of developments around the world—information he may need to answer scores of questions fired by 100 or so newsmen.

At 11 a.m. the conference opens, usually last 45 minutes, sometimes longer. Newsmen from all over the world can ask any question they want. Even the representative of Tass, the Soviet news agency, can put the secretary of state on the griddle.

This is a system existing no place else in the world. Newsmen, including the Tass representative, are given press quarters inside the State Department including free typewriters, free stationery, free telephone service—to be used, frequently, in criticism of the State Department.

Though Mr. Dulles is a successful Wall Street attorney, he is a slow, hesitating speaker, sometimes painfully so. Sometimes, despite great care, he makes a mistake. Such a slip can be costly, for his words reverberate around the world.

After the press conference, a conference digest is prepared from the stenographic notes, and a copy sent to Dulles for correction. It then goes to every top officer in the State Department so they will know exactly what their chief has said and make no counter-statements.

After lunch, newsreels and radio networks pick out a couple of paragraphs from the stenographic record, and the secretary of state comes back to the press-conference auditorium, reads these paragraphs in front of the klieg lights, while the newsreels grind out the picture for TV and movie trade.

This takes up a good part of one day in the life of the secretary of state. He does this once a week. John Foster Dulles takes the view that he is not doing it as a favor to the press and the newsreels, however, but as an obligation to the American people. A successful foreign policy, he feels, must be based on an informed public.

'BEST MAN' TALBOTT

Harvey Howe, colored chauffeur of Dayton, O., has been with Secretary for Air Talbott's family for so many years that he's sometimes called "Harvey Talbott."

The other day, Harvey, aged 64, told the secretary for air that he expected to get married.

"I want you to stand up for me," Harvey told his old boss.

"When?" asked Talbott.

"Any time you say."

"All right," agreed Talbott, "the next time I have something that takes me out to Ohio so I won't have to make a special trip, I sure will stand up for you."

So when Talbott had to speak at the Lockland, O., plant a short time later, he stood up as Harvey Howe's best man.

NOTE—Secretary Talbott, though chief of the Air Force, is careful not to use Air Force planes except on official business. Flying to New York on private business the other day he went commercial.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Press Fretting Under Administration Curbs

WASHINGTON—The complaint of many working newspapermen in Washington is that the flow of news has been greatly reduced in recent months. The administration is accused of applying a deliberately restrictive policy that puts a curb on everyone at the top level.

The case was well stated by Raymond P. Brandt, veteran correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in his television debate with James Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary. Brandt accused the administration of seeking to prevent all discussion and speculation about impending decisions until they were presented as accomplished fact through official announcement.

It is true, of course, that the administration has postponed decisions on some of the most controversial issues before the country. Debate goes on behind closed doors while committees and commissions prepare reports. A farm program, atomic policy, trade and tariffs, the expansion of social security, these are some of the questions on the pending list. That is one reason the stream of the news from official sources is sluggish.

The administration will shortly issue a new executive order intended to broaden the flow of information out of government offices. It limits the power of the bureaucrat to stamp a document top secret or secret. Specifically it abolishes the classification of "restricted" which has been used as a convenient shield under the security order issued by President Truman in 1951. Twenty-nine government agencies will be prevented from putting security classifications on documents they originate.

But whether this order will achieve the desired end is open to question. William Benton, former assistant secretary of state and senator from Connecticut, in an analysis in Editor and Publisher Magazine points out that the negative step of removing restrictions is not enough. There must be a positive incentive for giving out information.

In times like these caution tends to be the rule. Recently several leaks to newspapermen have angered officials including, it is reported, the President himself. One of these concerned the tentative decision to give out more atomic information in a proposal that got called Operation Candor.

No firm decision had been taken on the so-called Operation Candor. But language from a classified document discussing the possibility got into a column.

A little later a similar incident stirred a tempest in the Pentagon. Language from a classified and coded cable and from a Joint Chiefs of Staff paper dealing with the size of the Air Force appeared in the column of another commentator.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson put high-ranking Air Force officers on the carpet. A thorough investigation was initiated. Safes were opened at midnight to see whether top secret documents were where they belonged. After an exhaustive inquiry, Gen Nathan Twining assured Wilson that the leak had not come from his service.

According to current report, the columnist who printed the material on the Air Force is to be prosecuted under a statute providing criminal penalties in connection with the protection of secret American codes. News of the indictment may be public before these words appear in print.

There are those in the administration, however, who consider this a dubious course and they have continued to argue against it. They believe it will make the individual a martyr. But, more important, they fear that the effect will be to narrow still further the flow of news essential to public understanding.

The system of leaks and counter-leaks in Washington has a pernicious side. It has been used in past years as an instrument of bureaucratic warfare. At times this warfare has spread through whole government departments.

During the battle over unification of the Armed Services in 1947 Army, Navy and Air Force, and particularly the last two, dug in for a siege. Leaks and counter-leaks from classified material were used by all sides. The Navy established a sort of underground office to which newspapermen were summoned. All this spread confusion and uncertainty.

☆ ☆ ☆

Toward the end of World War II when the situation in India was especially tense, a confidential report by an American diplomat on the folly of the British was leaked from the State Department. This had unfortunate consequences in London, New Delhi and Washington. But in the view of this observer it would be difficult to make a case under present laws that the consequences of any leak has actually endangered American security. What is needed is a vigorous policy to release all information that cannot be directly judged as furnishing military data to a potential enemy.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Cloudy Skies Find Editors 'Singin' In The Rain'

By MONA B. PARKER

"A week of drizzling rain was causing folks hereabouts to long for some good old-fashioned Nebraska weather." Yes, that appeared in a state paper, the Albion News—but the date was Oct. 20, 1903.

☆ ☆ ☆

The press currently was looking with kindly eye upon the moisture Nebraska was receiving in somewhat sparing portions. M. A. Brown was returning to Stapleton from Colorado and was compelled to drive in a heavy downpour most of the way, the last 15 miles of which presented a highway in "extremely gooey condition."

"But we didn't mind," he hastened to explain. "After two months of drought, nothing could have pried a complaint about the rain out of us. It was something of a novelty to have a little mud under foot."

☆ ☆ ☆

"More smiles on main street and on the faces of ranchers and farmers who came into the office than we'd seen in weeks," was Mabel Grimes' description of reaction to good rains in and around Rushville and Sheridan County. "Wheat farmers whose fall wheat was at a standstill, and ranchers whose cattle were shrinking in weight rather than eat all the dust on the grass." Many cattle, she told Star readers, had developed dust pneumonia.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Dawkin Herald doesn't mind coming right out and saying what others are thinking:

"We'd like to have more subscribers—which is what all newspapers need to keep the wheels rolling."

And then as a clincher, R. E. Koepff adds: "Just think, where else can you get two people to work for you all year for only $1.50?"

☆ ☆ ☆

J. D. Hodges noted in the Wauneta Breeze what a minister in one of New York's large churches had to say about today's tensions and their effect. People are living at such a fast pace, said he, that he hasn't seen a man asleep in church for several years. He considers it "a terrible condition when everyone is so keyed up he can't relax."

Apparently, then, world conditions and such rest lightly on Editor Don Gillen and his York associates who pursue their recreational relaxation religiously, so to speak. "A lot of jokes are often told about men who fall asleep in church," wrote Mr. Gillen in the Republican. "But I have many friends who never sleep in church—the fellows I play golf with Sunday mornings."

Headline of The Week (Blair Pilot-Tribune): "Firemen Fight Blaze At Harold Stork Home." Which, we might conclude, is perhaps better than fighting the stork at the Blaze home.

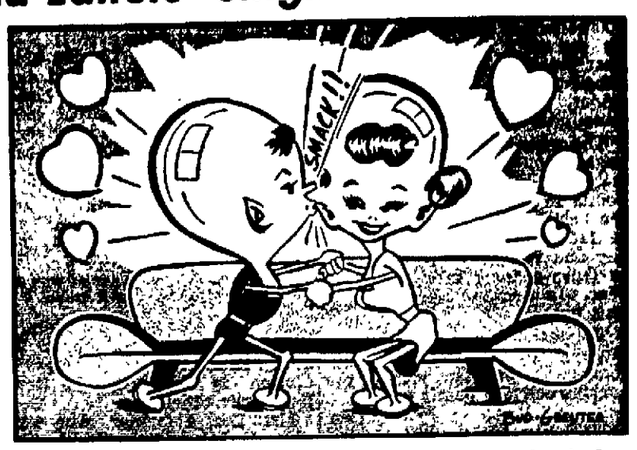
Arch Jarrell is not the only newspaperman who takes note of what is loosely termed "progress" (see cut). The Polk Progress gathered the information from the head of a medical college that men are going to wear girdles, too, a health and efficiency measure because "they will get support elevating the abdomen, and get far more air into the lungs." But the one Progress scorns the other.

"As yet," it commented, "we haven't noticed a rush to the girdle counters."

And from Zela H. Loomis, in the Columbus Telegram: "A rose-scented diaper is one of the new creations on the market in babyland fashions. Guess we were born 60 years too soon. Further affiant sayeth not."



Dr. Wilton Krogman of the University of Pennsylvania has sketched a word picture of the man of tomorrow that doesn't appeal very strongly to the Grand Island Independent's editor, Arch Jarrell. The man of the future will have no stomach, will be mostly brain and his feet will be round, like pedestals. His legs will be spindly things and he will live to be 140 years old. "A critter like that sounds pretty awful," shudders Mr. Jarrell, adding that "he may not think so. To a Gila monster, another Gila monster is pretty."

The Dim Loyalties

Omaha, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Since my letters concerning our unicameral Legislature have been published in The Star, I have interviewed a number of people to get their reactions to my proposals. Those who were professional politicians, especially the Demos, were sharply opposed to the Unicameral, whether it was fortified with one or several built-in balances, as I outlined, or whether it remained as is. Those who were more or less associated with the present setup, on the other hand, seemed determined to sit tight with it, figuratively willing to "hug it to death," be honest criticism of its recent doings what they may! However, when it came to just plain folks, I noted a reaction that made me quite sure that I am definitely on the right track when I try to be reasonable and far-sighted. Our good George Norris was a far-sighted man, if anything, and were he on the hustings we could be sure he would welcome changes to meet the more intensive problems of mid-century decades.

Dr. Aylsworth reminds us that it is conceded to be a fact that a representative picked from a larger constituency tends to be of higher quality (ability) than one from a smaller subdivision. Their outlook is broader, too. That is what I had in mind when I stated: "Let one-fourth of the body be elected at large, as to the congressional districts and as to the state as a whole." An added benefit to the plain folks would be that they would have more than one senator to appeal to. They would be surer to get action. So—let us be more reasonable, fact-obedient, and less ingrained with dim loyalties.

Midget Football

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The City Council has just granted permission to the Junior Chamber of Commerce to start a BB club for boys. I would like to suggest an evaluation of the sports programs now in operation.

The chief criticism of midget baseball seems to be that it is planned for boys who are already quite excellent ball players. The object seems to be that of producing a winning team rather than providing an opportunity for all boys to play ball.

I have acquired some first-hand knowledge of the midget football setup. Theoretically, there are set limits regarding weight and age for boys who play. This is a safety measure. Actually there are boys on all of the teams who are overweight, some who are underweight, and it is rumored that some are over-age. There have been no check-ups to see that these rules are enforced.

In addition, coaching standards seem very low. For the past two weeks, coaches on one team have announced a starting line-up from the boys who came to practice. They said that those who didn't practice would not be allowed to play. On Saturday night the boys who did not come to practice showed up, were put in on the starting line-up, and some of the boys who had come faithfully to practice sat on the bench the entire evening.

In evaluating the program, what are the boys actually learning? Yes, they are learning some football skills. But the most impressive lesson they are learning is this—you're a dope to go to practice all the time and stick to the rules. It's considered smart to get on the team when you don't qualify. And finally the coach treats you with lots more respect if you keep him guessing about whether or not you intend to show up on Saturday night.

What is the goal of the midget football program? Is it merely to produce winning teams, or is it to teach sportsmanlike behavior to the boys?

TWO HOMES

I passed them by the other night.
Two homes in order trim.
The smaller house was gay with light.
The larger one was dim.

The smaller home with laughter rang
And merry voices shrill.
Within the larger no one sang
And every room was still.

The larger house I looked upon
Had all that wealth provides.
I knew the smaller home was one
Where happiness abides.

Smith's ENRICHED BREAD

Nothing Compares to its Tempting Wonderful Flavor and Every Day FRESHNESS!

All Within A Week

The President was discovering that the pressures to which his office subjects him are a little bit difficult sometimes to reconcile with high-minded, sound conceptions of the office.

A week ago Mr. Eisenhower told newsmen he wasn't going to use the presidency as a campaign instrument in partisan elections and would stay out of strictly local political scraps. GOP National Chairman Hall had a chat with the President after Mr. Eisenhower outlined his views. Others, we assume, including Republican members of Congress, not a little bit bewildered and somewhat concerned over the Democratic victory in the Wisconsin House district which never before had sent a Democrat to Washington, may have contributed a little talk. So at his press conference Wednesday, the President told the representatives of the press that he is interested in Republican organization and in keeping Congress under GOP control.

And that is that.

In seven days the President in a measure finds it necessary to eat his own words. Even after Mr. Eisenhower had outlined what appeared to be a lofty conception of President, the trip to the Southwest from which he returned presented its contradiction. He attended several Republican political rallies. He issued a statement favoring the election of the Republican candidate for the office of mayor of New York City. He said he hoped to see Sen. Leverett Saltonstall and Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusets, re-elected. All of that is understandable enough and is to be expected. And at the same time, it collides violently with the idea that the White House is above politics and wholly removed from partisanship. It never can be.

If the President gives an impression of confusion and uncertainty, of changing his mind from one day to another, one explanation could be that the job he occupies actually isn't the job he thought it was.

What Is The Ceiling?

What amount can the American people afford to spend annually towards the conservation of natural resources? More than a shift from Washington to Denver seems to be involved in the announcement by the Reclamation Bureau of the Department of Interior Wednesday that many of its major activities will move west.

Reclamation Bureau structure as it now exists, the assistant secretary of the interior, Fred G. Aandahl, said, was set up several years ago in the anticipation that the construction program would run from 500 to 700 million dollars annually. However, Mr. Aandahl continued, top appropriations never reached more than about 300 million dollars a year, and currently are running at only about half that amount. The new organization contemplates a continuing construction program around 150 miflion dollars a year, although next year's budget request probably will be slightly less than the one for the current year for which Congress voted 147 million dollars.

We doubt that Uncle Sam gets a better return for the dollars he spends than the benefits he collects from the conservation and preservation of natural resources. We are a mature nation, we say. We are mature, at least, when it comes to land. There is no cheap land available. All of it has been claimed, settled and developed. Our forests have been utilized—our grazing domain exploited. Our mineral wealth has been drawn upon heavily. It was these matchless resources and the use made of them that contributed fairly-like qualities to the American success story of the last century.

It is quite obvious that this administration plans to slow down the pace of development. There will be less of river basin development. There appears to be less attention to be given the forests and to other resources. All of this is screened behind the slogan that government should step in only when private enterprise cannot do the job. The slogan sounds good but the public will discover that in practice, it is slightly different than in theory.

We can spend billions for arms—billions for other purposes which contribute to national security. And yet one great factor in national security, a factor indispensable to continuance of American standards of living and to national economic good health, is intensifying, if anything, rather than diminishing the program of conservation of natural resources.

Of Men And Things

Everybody's business is nobody's business, it has been said. At the Lancaster County courthouse, County Attorney Frederick Wagener was giving thought to action looking towards recovery of an estimated $50,000 of gasoline funds which the county did not get due to the delay of applying a new formula for reapportioning gasoline tax money among the 93 counties of the state.

★

Ordinarily when money is due to a recipient, that recipient knows how much is due him and see to it that he collects. That does not seem to be the case in applying the new reapportionment formula approved by the Legislature in 1945 to determine apportionment to the counties of gasoline tax funds due the counties. That new apportionment formula was based upon population gains or losses determined by the census of 1950—and upon car registrations within the counties. There may have been some mitigating circumstances for the delay in applying the new formula. If official figures were to be used, the rural census within the counties generally follows announcement of the population count for towns and cities by several months. Here it is, near the close of 1953—three years after the census was taken—and the assumption naturally is that the official census figures for both rural and urban population in all of the 93 Nebraska counties were available months ago.

Alertness On Local Level

County Engineer Louis Weaver was quoted as saying that he was aware that Lancaster was losing some revenue due it, from the use of the 1940 figures, but he did not realize the figure was so high. Mr. Weaver seems to have left himself open to criticism because he took no action himself and because he did not acquaint the Lancaster County Board of Commissioners that the 1940 formula was still in use.

★

Then, of course, in addition to the county engineer, we believe it is not unreasonable to anticipate that the County Board of Commissioners, of which young Russell Brehm is chairman, should be expected to know what goes on. The duties and responsibilities of a member of the county board are a little bit indefinite. Generally membership is not a full-time job. In Lancaster we have the notion that Commissioner Chris Kuhner actually puts in more time at his desk than his two colleagues, although that impression may be a mistake. We talk a lot about Big Government at a distance, pointing a finger towards Washington; and we speak about decline of local government, but there are a great many occasions when local government appears to be as wide open to criticism as federal government. The only criticism involved in all of this matter is the procrastination in applying the new formula for apportioning the gasoline tax. As a result some counties, most of the 93, it is said, got less than they should have received. A smaller number received more than they should have.

What About The County Board?

The state treasurer was slow in getting around to applying the new formula. He in turn, following the practice that had prevailed, looked to a division of the Highway Department. And on the local level, the county, it would seem particularly in those cases where counties were entitled to more than they got, those who should have been most interested had their eyes shut.

DULLES AND PRESS

John Foster Dulles doesn't have the best press in the world, but he is sincerely dedicated to the idea that the American people are entitled to know just as much as possible about the conduct of their foreign affairs. At present he is engaged in opening up more avenues of information to the public; also has brought Henry Suydam, editor of the Newark, N.J., News and former press aide to Charles Evans Hughes, to take over State Department public relations.

Compared with other Eisenhower officials, the State Department today shines as a beacon of light when it comes to giving information to the public.

Most people don't realize how much behind-the-scenes work goes into the holdiig of a State Department press conference. Actually, the secretary of state begins preparing for the conference one hour in advance. At 10 a.m. his top officials come in to brief him on the latest news from Trieste, Israel, Korea, and other trouble spots. They also bring him a written summary of developments around the world—information he may need to answer scores of questions fired by 100 or so newsmen.

At 11 a.m. the conference opens, usually last 45 minutes, sometimes longer. Newsmen from all over the world can ask any question they want. Even the representative of Tass, the Soviet news agency, can put the secretary of state on the griddle.

This is a system existing no place else in the world. Newsmen, including the Tass representative, are given press quarters inside the State Department including free typewriters, free stationery, free telephone service—to be used, frequently, in criticism of the State Department.

Though Mr. Dulles is a successful Wall Street attorney, he is a slow, hesitating speaker, sometimes painfully so. Sometimes, despite great care, he makes a mistake. Such a slip can be costly, for his words reverberate around the world.

After the press conference, a conference digest is prepared from the stenographic notes, and a copy sent to Dulles for correction. It then goes to every top officer in the State Department so they will know exactly what their chief has said and make no counter-statements.

After lunch, newsreels and radio networks pick out a couple of paragraphs from the stenographic record, and the secretary of state comes back to the press-conference auditorium, reads these paragraphs in front of the klieg lights, while the newsreels grind out the picture for TV and movie trade.

This takes up a good part of one day in the life of the secretary of state. He does this once a week. John Foster Dulles takes the view that he is not doing it as a favor to the press and the newsreels, however, but as an obligation to the American people. A successful foreign policy, he feels, must be based on an informed public.

'BEST MAN' TALBOTT

Harvey Howe, colored chauffeur of Dayton, O., has been with Secretary for Air Talbott's family for so many years that he's sometimes called "Harvey Talbott."

The other day, Harvey, aged 64, told the secretary for air that he expected to get married.

"I want you to stand up for me," Harvey told his old boss.

"When?" asked Talbott.

"Any time you say."

"All right," agreed Talbott, "the next time I have something that takes me out to Ohio so I won't have to make a special trip, I sure will stand up for you."

So when Talbott had to speak at the Lockland, O., plant a short time later, he stood up as Harvey Howe's best man.

NOTE—Secretary Talbott, though chief of the Air Force, is careful not to use Air Force planes except on official business. Flying to New York on private business the other day he went commercial.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Press Fretting Under Administration Curbs

WASHINGTON—The complaint of many working newspapermen in Washington is that the flow of news has been greatly reduced in recent months. The administration is accused of applying a deliberately restrictive policy that puts a curb on everyone at the top level.

The case was well stated by Raymond P. Brandt, veteran correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in his television debate with James Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary. Brandt accused the administration of seeking to prevent all discussion and speculation about impending decisions until they were presented as accomplished fact through official announcement.

It is true, of course, that the administration has postponed decisions on some of the most controversial issues before the country. Debate goes on behind closed doors while committees and commissions prepare reports. A farm program, atomic policy, trade and tariffs, the expansion of social security, these are some of the questions on the pending list. That is one reason the stream of the news from official sources is sluggish.

The administration will shortly issue a new executive order intended to broaden the flow of information out of government offices. It limits the power of the bureaucrat to stamp a document top secret or secret. Specifically it abolishes the classification of "restricted" which has been used as a convenient shield under the security order issued by President Truman in 1951. Twenty-nine government agencies will be prevented from putting security classifications on documents they originate.

But whether this order will achieve the desired end is open to question. William Benton, former assistant secretary of state and senator from Connecticut, in an analysis in Editor and Publisher Magazine points out that the negative step of removing restrictions is not enough. There must be a positive incentive for giving out information.

In times like these caution tends to be the rule. Recently several leaks to newspapermen have angered officials including, it is reported, the President himself. One of these concerned the tentative decision to give out more atomic information in a proposal that got called Operation Candor.

No firm decision had been taken on the so-called Operation Candor. But language from a classified document discussing the possibility got into a column.

A little later a similar incident stirred a tempest in the Pentagon. Language from a classified and coded cable and from a Joint Chiefs of Staff paper dealing with the size of the Air Force appeared in the column of another commentator.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson put high-ranking Air Force officers on the carpet. A thorough investigation was initiated. Safes were opened at midnight to see whether top secret documents were where they belonged. After an exhaustive inquiry, Gen Nathan Twining assured Wilson that the leak had not come from his service.

According to current report, the columnist who printed the material on the Air Force is to be prosecuted under a statute providing criminal penalties in connection with the protection of secret American codes. News of the indictment may be public before these words appear in print.

There are those in the administration, however, who consider this a dubious course and they have continued to argue against it. They believe it will make the individual a martyr. But, more important, they fear that the effect will be to narrow still further the flow of news essential to public understanding.

The system of leaks and counter-leaks in Washington has a pernicious side. It has been used in past years as an instrument of bureaucratic warfare. At times this warfare has spread through whole government departments.

During the battle over unification of the Armed Services in 1947 Army, Navy and Air Force, and particularly the last two, dug in for a siege. Leaks and counter-leaks from classified material were used by all sides. The Navy established a sort of underground office to which newspapermen were summoned. All this spread confusion and uncertainty.

☆ ☆ ☆

Toward the end of World War II when the situation in India was especially tense, a confidential report by an American diplomat on the folly of the British was leaked from the State Department. This had unfortunate consequences in London, New Delhi and Washington. But in the view of this observer it would be difficult to make a case under present laws that the consequences of any leak has actually endangered American security. What is needed is a vigorous policy to release all information that cannot be directly judged as furnishing military data to a potential enemy.

Cloudy Skies Find Editors 'Singin' In The Rain'

By MONA B. PARKER

"A week of drizzling rain was causing folks hereabouts to long for some good old-fashioned Nebraska weather." Yes, that appeared in a state paper, the Albion News—but the date was Oct. 20, 1903.

☆ ☆ ☆

The press currently was looking with kindly eye upon the moisture Nebraska was receiving in somewhat sparing portions. M. A. Brown was returning to Stapleton from Colorado and was compelled to drive in a heavy downpour most of the way, the last 15 miles of which presented a highway in "extremely gooey condition."

"But we didn't mind," he hastened to explain. "After two months of drought, nothing could have pried a complaint about the rain out of us. It was something of a novelty to have a little mud under foot."

☆ ☆ ☆

"More smiles on main street and on the faces of ranchers and farmers who came into the office than we'd seen in weeks," was Mabel Grimes' description of reaction to good rains in and around Rushville and Sheridan County. "Wheat farmers whose fall wheat was at a standstill, and ranchers whose cattle were shrinking in weight rather than eat all the dust on the grass." Many cattle, she told Star readers, had developed dust pneumonia.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Daykin Herald doesn't mind coming right out and saying what others are thinking:

"We'd like to have more subscribers—which is what all newspapers need to keep the wheels rolling."

And then as a clincher, R. E. Koepff adds: "Just think, where else can you get two people to work for you all year for only $1.50?"

☆ ☆ ☆

J. D. Hodges noted in the Wauneta Breeze what a minister in one of New York's large churches had to say about today's tensions and their effect. People are living at such a fast pace, said he, that he hasn't seen a man asleep in church for several years. He considers it "a terrible condition when everyone is so keyed up he can't relax."

Apparently, then, world conditions and such rest lightly on Editor Don Gillen and his York associates who pursue their recreational relaxation religiously, so to speak. "A lot of jokes are often told about men who fall asleep in church," wrote Mr. Gillen in the Republican. "But I have many friends who never sleep in church—the fellows I play golf with Sunday mornings."

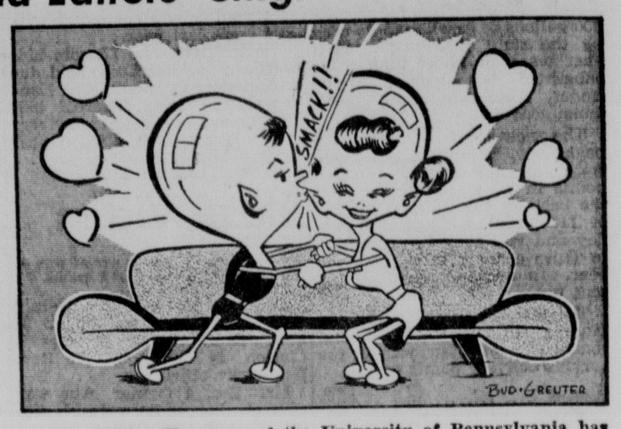
Headline of The Week (Blair Pilot-Tribune): "Firemen Fight Blaze At Harold Stork Home." Which, we might conclude, is perhaps better than fighting the stork at the Blaze home.

☆ ☆ ☆

Arch Jarrell is not the only newspaperman who takes note of what is loosely termed "progress" (see cut). The Polk Progress gathered the information from the head of a medical college that men are going to wear girdles, too, a health and efficiency measure because "they will get support elevating the abdomen, and get far more air into the lungs." But the one Progress scorns the other.

"As yet," it commented, "we haven't noticed a rush to the girdle counters."

And from Zela H. Loomis, in the Columbus Telegram: "A rose-scented diaper is one of the new creations on the market in babyland fashions. Guess we were born 60 years too soon. Further affiant sayeth not."



Dr. Wilton Krogman of the University of Pennsylvania has sketched a word picture of the man of tomorrow that doesn't appeal very strongly to the Grand Island Independent's editor, Arch Jarrell. The man of the future will have no stomach, will be mostly brain and his feet will be round, like pedestals. His legs will be spindly things and he will live to be 140 years old. "A critter like that sounds pretty awful," shudders Mr. Jarrell, adding that "he may not think so. To a Gila monster, another Gila monster is pretty."

The Dim Loyalties

Omaha, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Since my letters concerning our unicameral Legislature have been published in The Star, I have interviewed a number of people to get their reactions to my proposals. Those who were professional politicians, especially the Demos, were sharply opposed to the Unicameral, whether it was fortified with one or several built-in balances, as I outlined, or whether it remained as is. Those who were more or less associated with the present setup, on the other hand, seemed determined to sit tight with it, figuratively willing to "hug it to death," be honest criticism of its recent doings what they may! However, when it came to just plain folks, I noted a reaction that made me quite sure that I am definitely on the right track when I try to be reasonable and far-sighted . Our good George Norris was a far-sighted man, if anything, and were he on the hustings we could be sure he would welcome changes to meet the more intensive problems of mid-century decades.

Dr. Aylsworth reminds us that it is conceded to be a fact that a representative picked from a larger constituency tends to be of higher quality (ability) than one from a smaller subdivision. Their outlook is broader, too. That is what I had in mind when I stated: "Let one-fourth of the body be elected at large, as to the congressional districts and as to the state as a whole." An added benefit to the plain folks would be that they would have more than one senator to appeal to. They would be surer to get action. So—let us be more reasonable, fact-obedient, and less ingrained with dim loyalties.

Midget Football

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The City Council has just granted permission to the Junior Chamber of Commerce to start a BB club for boys. I would like to suggest an evaluation of the sports programs now in operation.

The chief criticism of midget baseball seems to be that it is planned for boys who are already quite excellent ball players. The object seems to be that of producing a winning team rather than providing an opportunity for all boys to play ball.

I have acquired some first-hand knowledge of the midget football setup. Theoretically, there are set limits regarding weight and age for boys who play. This is a safety measure. Actually there are boys on all of the teams who are overweight, some who are underweight, and it is rumored that some are over-age. There have been no checkups to see that these rules are enforced.

In addition, coaching standards seem very low. For the past two weeks, coaches on one team have announced a starting line-up from the boys who came to practice. They said that those who didn't practice would not be allowed to play. On Saturday night the boys who did not come to practice showed up, were put in on the starting line-up, and some of the boys who had come faithfully to practice sat on the bench the entire evening.

In evaluating the program, what are the boys actually learning? Yes, they are learning some football skills. But the most impressive lesson they are learning is this—you're a dope to go to practice all the time and stick to the rules. It's considered smart to get on the team when you don't qualify. And finally the coach treats you with lots more respect if you keep him guessing about whether or not you intend to show up on Saturday night.

What is the goal of the midget football program? Is it merely to produce winning teams, or is it to teach sportsmanlike behavior to the boys?

TWO HOMES

I passed them by the other night,
Two homes in order trim.
The smaller house was gay with light,
The larger one was dim.

The smaller home with laughter rang
And merry voices shrill.
Within the larger no one sang
And every room was still.

The larger house I looked upon
Had all that wealth provides.
I knew the smaller home was one
Where happiness abides.

Mullen Man Re-Enlists; Ex-Prisoner

OMAHA (AP)—Jacques Jeffords, 24-year-old Mullen, Neb., soldier who spent 32 months in North Korean prisoner of war camps, has decided to re-enlist in the Air Force.

"I can't think of anything I'd rather do than serve my country," the young soldier said Thursday. "Perhaps it will help to keep others from being Communist prisoners."

Jeffords said he knew "quite a few of the men who went over to Communism."

Was it due to a lack of education?

"Some of them had college degrees, others hadn't gotten through the fifth grade. Some day they'll realize what they've done," he said.

Jeffords who returned to Mullen Aug. 30 said he was captured Nov. 11, 1950, three days after his B-26 was shot down in Communist territory.

Most of his internment was in Camp 3, a few miles from the Yalu River on North Korean soil. The locale was "right under" Mig Alley—a fact that kept morale at a peak.

Jeffords and his father, a retired rancher, were visiting friends in Omaha en route to Des Moines, Ia., where they'll stay with relatives.

Ike Says Taxes Are Thorns In U.S. 'Crown Of Roses'

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower declared Thursday that taxes are the thorns in America's "crown of roses"—but he didn't reveal whether the thorns will be any sharper in his new tax program.

The Chief Executive smilingly dropped the comment on taxes during an impromptu speech stressing the importance of conserving the nation's natural resources.

He addressed the fourth congress of the American Forestry Association at the Statler Hotel in Washington.

One of the things every American wants passed on, Mr. Eisenhower said, is his right to earn his living the way he wants and to save his money as he wishes.

He drew a burst of laughter when he added that saving money is, of course, "subject to taxes."

The President added with a grin:

"Even in such a crown of roses as we know has always been the promise and the share of our beloved America, there still are some thorns—and taxes is one of them, I guess."

Mr. Eisenhower told the foresters that they, like his own administration are concerned with long-range building—with decades rather than "intermittent and hysterical-like action."

The purpose of his administration, he declared, is to understand the problems of every special group at the expense of others."

He added: "The interest of this administration is to create a balanced but advancing economy and prosperity in this country."

Mr. Eisenhower recalled that when he led the North African invasion during World War II, it was hard for him to believe that such barren dessert land had once been the granary of the ancient world.

He said in a strong plea for conservation in this country that such a thing must never happen in the United States.

Mr. Hanley, who died Thursday, was the owner of Hanley's Super Market at 17th and R. Coming to Lincoln from Rumania in 1907, he had been in the grocery business 37 years.

He was a member of Capitol Lodge 11, IOOF, and the Chamber of Commerce.

Surviving are his wife, Goldie, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Pearlstein, both of Lincoln.

Burial will be in Mt. Carmel Cemetery. Pallbearers are Leon Daniels, Max Neiden, Bob Jacobs, Ben Abrahams, E. Hill and I. Polsky.

2 Reformatory Escapees Get Added Time

Two Nebraska Reformatory escapees were sentenced Thursday by the Lancaster District Court.

Francis Lee Stark, 24, formerly of Kent, Wash., was given two additional years in the penitentiary after pleading guilty to a charge of escaping from the reformatory on Oct. 15.

Lalo A. Rivera, 23, formerly of Brighton, Colo., was sentenced to one additional year in the penitentiary after pleading guilty to a charge of escaping from the reformatory on Sept. 29.

Stark had been returned to the reformatory on Oct. 2 after serving a three year federal term under the Dyer Act after being apprehended in Salt Lake City on May 4, 1951, following an escape earlier in 1951 from the Nebraska reformatory.

Stark and a buddy had driven a state truck through the reformatory gates to make the 1951 escape. A reformatory guard was discharged as a result of the incident.

Stark was serving a 18-month to three year sentence for forgery from Lancaster County at the time of his 1951 escape.

Rivera was serving a three-to-five year sentence for burglary from Scotts Bluff County, given in November, 1952.

Liquor Seller Cited

Raymond P. Kelly, Fremont, was cited by the State Liquor Commission Thursday on charges his establishment sold liquor to a person already incapacited by such consumption and permitted disturbances in violation of commission rules.

Ike Says Taxes Are Thorns In U.S. 'Crown Of Roses'

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower declared Thursday that taxes are the thorns in America's "crown of roses"—but he didn't reveal whether the thorns will be any sharper in his new tax program.

The Chief Executive smilingly dropped the comment on taxes during an impromptu speech stressing the importance of conserving the nation's natural resources.

He addressed the fourth congress of the American Forestry Association at the Statler Hotel in Washington.

One of the things every American wants passed on, Mr. Eisenhower said, is his right to earn his living the way he wants and to save his money as he wishes.

He drew a burst of laughter when he added that saving money is, of course, "subject to taxes."

The President added with a grin:

"Even in such a crown of roses as we know has always been the promise and the share of our beloved America, there still are some thorns—and taxes is one of them, I guess."

Mr. Eisenhower told the foresters that they, like his own administration are concerned with long-range building—with decades rather than "intermittent and hysterical-like action."

The purpose of his administration, he declared, is to understand the problems of every special group at the expense of others."

He added: "The interest of this administration is to create a balanced but advancing economy and prosperity in this country."

Mr. Eisenhower recalled that when he led the North African invasion during World War II, it was hard for him to believe that such barren dessert land had once been the granary of the ancient world.

He said in a strong plea for conservation in this country that such a thing must never happen in the United States.

Crosby Names State Human Relations Committee

Gov. Robert Crosby Thursday named a human relations committee for Nebraska which will determine the extent to which citizens of the state "are denied opportunities for a wholesome and constructive life because of race, creed or nationality."

The committee of 12 will also recommend to the governor and other authorities programs or measures necessary "in order to assure the relations of the objectives setup by the committee."

Four of the committee members are from Lincoln. They are:

The Rev. John Harris, pastor of Quinn Chapel.

Leo Hill, businessman.

Dr. Leroy Laase, chairman of the department of speech, University of Nebraska.

The Rev. Carroll Lemmon, executive secretary of the Nebraska Council of Churches.

The six members from Omaha are Arthur Goodlet, Morris Jacobs, the Rev. John P. Markee, W. Otto Swanson, Mrs. Vern G. Vance and Whitney Young Jr. Other members are Sam I. Berek of Fremont and Robert H. Sanford of Lyons.

"Nebraska has a wonderful heritage of freedom. We were never a slave state. Because of my sincere conviction about the importance of this phase of our society, and because I want to see the state of Nebraska maintain its gains and correct what ever inconsistencies that exist, I am appointing this committee," the governor said.

The committee will meet at least four times a year and serve without pay.

Queries Continue On Locating New Industries Here

Chief C. V. Price of the State Resources Division said that inquiries as to locating new industries in Nebraska continue to increase.

He added that one eastern manufacturer had opined that Nebraska might well "be fighting them off" within the next ten years, meaning that the state could by that time possibly have all the industry it can handle.

However, he said the good Nebraska labor market was offset to a degree by the fact that the state still lacks a high consumer market with the high point of population still remaining in Illinois and eastward.

Anderson Says He Already Has 2 Talks Slated

Retiring State Tax Commissioner Norris Anderson said he already has "two assignments" in his new job with the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation for which he will be a research expert.

The assignments are for talks at a tax meeting of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce and a session of the State Association of County Officials of Omaha.

Anderson, who leaves the state post Nov. 1, said he found a vastly increased sentiment in the state for an expanded tax base, and expressed the opinion that he may now be able to talk more freely and expansively about the tax problems without people saying "oh, that's just the bureaucrat sitting up there the Statehouse."

State Awards Contract For Paving Highway U.S. No. 283 In Lexington

A contract for paving Highway U.S. No. 283 in Lexington has been awarded, State Engineer L. N. Ress said Thursday.

Missouri Valley Construction Co. of Omaha made the low bid of $38,408.81 at the Oct. 20 letting in Lexington for the 0.3 miles of grading, culverts, concrete pavement and gravel surfacing of intersections.

Six firms bid on the work. Five of them were under the city engineer's estimate of $44,768.95. Missouri Valley's price was $2,645.21 under the closest bid and $7,888.24 beneath the high one.

The work will be done on a diagonal route between Washington and Walnut Streets and Bridge Street at the south city limits. The work will provide for a new route for the highway south of U.S. 30 in Lexington.

The project will be financed with city funds matched with Federal-Aid Urban highway funds. The state highway department will supervise the contractor's construction work.

Fremont Licensee Cited

The State Liquor Commission Thursday cited Raymond P. Kelly, Fremont, holder of a retail beer on and off sale license for revocation hearing Tuesday, Nov. 17, on charges of sale to intoxicated persons and permitting "disturbances and unnecessary noise" on the premises.

Resources Management, Equality Policy Keystones — LaFollette

Addresses Teachers' Session

LaFollette

Dr. Hill

Intelligent management of America's natural resources (including the natural resources of energy produced by atomic and hydrogen fission) and remembering that our basic philosophy is that "all men are created equal" are the two principal foundations for a fundamentally sound American policy.

Col. Philip F. LaFollette, former governor of Wisconsin, laid down the above objectives in his speech Tuesday at the University of Nebraska Coliseum before more than 2,500 teachers attending the annual convention of District 1, Nebraska State Education Association.

"America has something absolutely unique in the history of the world—the principle that all men are created equal," LaFollette pointed out. He traced the success of this principle when the country gambled on "the intelligence of the mass of men" by opening up the western frontier to all men.

"They were given a grubstake, not a handout," he emphasized.

LaFollette urged that the "new frontier of atomic and hydrogen power" be developed on the same principle and warned against the possibility of this unlimited energy falling into the hands of a few.

"We have no business having a depression now," LaFollette stated. "And if we do, it will come because of mismanagement of our natural resources. If we can produce for destruction as we did in World War II, we can give our people a grubstake for peaceful construction."

A world traveler, LaFollette said he was deeply concerned about the "rising tide of anti-American feeling in Europe."

"Along with management of our natural resources to produce a high standard of living, we must also have a peaceful world," the former governor stressed.

LaFollette said that the course the U S followed in the Philippine Islands and Japan has insured a strong bulwark for democracy in the Pacific.

LaFollette urged his audience to be "open-minded" concerning suggested programs for realizing a sound American policy but emphasized that "in the last analysis, each American must reach his own decision in the deep conviction that our way is sound."

Earlier, Gov. Robert Crosby told the teachers that the state is on the brink of state-wide consolidation of schools and raising certification standards in Nebraska "to at least, the average standards in other states."

Dr Henry H Hill, president of the George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn., said that at the present time, one out of each five inhabitants in the U S is attending school. He added that by 1957, there will be four million children in the first grade.

Dr. Hill asked the educators to aim their sights at "achievable goals" and to work for better schools, more and better teachers, and higher standards in education.

Florence Jenkins of Lincoln, district president, presided.

Saturday Noon Deadline On Driver's Licenses

Some 2,000 Lancaster County drivers who haven't renewed their operator's license have been reminded that Saturday noon is the deadline by Co. Treas. C. E Berg.

He also emphasized that all licenses mailed for renewal must be in his office by Saturday morning.

$133,590 In Damage Suits Filed After Mishap

suits asking a total of $133,590 were filed in District Court Thursday as a result of a car-truck accident last August on Highway 275, about 1½ miles southeast of Fremont.

A car driven by William A. Strudle, 31, of Omaha, was in collision with a truck driven by Lawrence Delezene, 32, of Omaha. Strudle was killed and his sister, Elizabeth, and wife, Rita, were injured.

A suit for $78,590 was filed on behalf of Strudle's estate. A second suit asking $35,000 was filed by Mrs. Strudle and a third asking $20,000 was filed by the sister.

The truck driver and the National Roofing Co., Omaha, the driver's employer, were named defendants.

Exclusive double-wrapped Aluminum Package keeps
GOOD LUCK fresher and better tasting than any other margarine!

Read the proof! In flavor tests, new Reynolds Wrap kept GOOD LUCK fresh as the day it was made—even after 8 weeks! Only GOOD LUCK has it!

NOW YOU CAN serve perfect table spread every time—fresh, sweet and delicious as the day it was packed! Just look for GOOD LUCK margarine in this revolutionary new package made of shiny Reynolds aluminum foil.

GOOD LUCK is the only margarine—the only table spread—so completely protected.

Have you ever noticed an "off" taste in your margarine? Then you'll be interested in the tests we made to prove that this new package really protects the pure, delicate flavor of GOOD LUCK.

To test this package, we put GOOD LUCK in a refrigerator along with other table spreads wrapped in ordinary waxed cartons. Next to them we placed sliced onions—and the strongest cheese we could find.

Fresh and Sweet After Eight Weeks

After eight weeks, GOOD LUCK was still as fresh and sweet as the day it was made! The new aluminum package had protected GOOD LUCK completely against outside odors. But the other margarines in the usual waxed cartons had lost flavor and picked up odors very quickly, some after only six days.

Here's the reason for the difference: We wrap each quarter-pound print in pure Reynolds Wrap aluminum foil, then we put the quarter pounds in a waxed carton for extra protection, and finally, we seal the whole carton in shiny aluminum foil.

As a result, GOOD LUCK not only tastes delicious when we wrap it, but actually stays fresher and better tasting than any other margarine.

Remember: GOOD LUCK in its new package is unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Company, 390 Park Avenue, New York 22, New York.

We stored GOOD LUCK in the refrigerator next to strong cheese and onions for 8 weeks. When the new aluminum package was opened, GOOD LUCK's flavor was fresh and delicious as ever!

Keep GOOD LUCK in Your Refrigerator It Always Spreads Easily!

The delicate flavor of this fine quality margarine is perishable. That's why we carefully refrigerate GOOD LUCK during processing—also while awaiting shipment, and in transit.

If you want to enjoy GOOD LUCK at its delicious best, always keep it in your refrigerator. You'll find GOOD LUCK spreads smoothly even when cold.

You can't tell the difference between GOOD LUCK margarine and "you-know-what."

U.S. Report On Communist Atrocities To Go To U.N.

Action Is Demanded In Capital

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Stirred by American public horror, the U. S. delegation said here Tursday night it will place before all the 60 United Nations the Army's documented, photographic record of Communist atrocities in Korea.

Whether it will call on the U.N. General Assembly to pass judgment and condemn the perpetrators of the deeds was not disclosed immediately.

A terse announcement from Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., said:

"The United States is placing on the agenda of the General Assembly the United States Army report on atrocities committed against captives in Korea by Communist forces."

The report from the Army War Crimes Division, made public without advance notice Wednesday, told of the deaths by murder, torture and starvation of 29,815 persons behind Red lines in Korea. Of these, 6,113 were American soldiers.

It was documented with photographs and eyewitness stories.

"Words cannot describe the horror with which I view these exhibits," Lodge told reporters.

Senatorial demands for U. N. action came in Washington, too.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, wrote Lodge asking the U. S. delegation here to "do all in its power to see to it that the people guilty of these atrocities be brought before a War Crimes Commission and punished for their actions as expeditiously as possible."

Sens. Green (D-RI) and Hunt (D-Wyo) backed the call for U. N. action. They are also members of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), a member of the Armed Services Committee, agreed. "We've just got to make the effort to bring those criminals to trial," he declared. Hendrickson acknowledged, however, that it would be difficult to undertake such a prosecution.

The next step is for Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India, assembly president, to summon an extraordinary meeting of the steering committee to debate taking up the U. S. charges.

A bitter battle by the Soviet Union either to keep the whole question out of the U. N. or at least to invite the Chinese Reds and North Koreans to give their version was considered certain in that committee.

The full 60-nation assembly would take up the report from the Steering Committee and the Russian opposition tactics could be expected there all over again.

Two Oxford Debaters To Defend British Policy Against University Pair Sunday

Two Oxford University students will oppose two University of Nebraska students in a debate on the Near East policies of the United Kingdom at 8 p.m. Sunday in the sanctuary of the Unitarian Church of Lincoln.

The Oxford students, Patrick B. E. Mayhew and John Peters, will be honored by the Unitarian Laymen's League at a banquet before the debate.

Welcoming the Britishers to Nebraska will be Gov. and Mrs. Robert Crosby, Mayor and Mrs. Clark Jeary, Legion Post Commander Charles Thone, Acting University Chancellor and Mrs. John K. Selleck and Dean and Mrs. Walter E. Militzer.

In the debate the Oxford team will defend the course of action pursued by their country. University of Nebraska debaters Wayne Johnson and Dale Johnson will charge political and economic mishandling of Near East policy by Great Britain.

The University team will debate on the basis of a factual briefing by A. T. Anderson, University history professor.

Chairman for the debate will be the Rev. I. J. Domas, pastor of the Unitarian Church. James E. Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Star, will be moderator.

Ushers will be the 26 men and eight women who comprise the University of Nebraska debate squad.

The Oxford men, who will arrive in Lincoln Sunday morning, will go to Omaha Monday to debate the proposition: "This house views television with alarm."

Guests at the dinner before the debate here will include:

Edmund O. Belsheim, dean of the University Law School, and Nathan Blumberg, professor of the School of Journalism, both former Rhodes scholars and Oxford graduates.

Leroy T. Lasse, Donald O. Olson and Bruce Kendall, University speech department professors.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo F. Srb and Mrs. Helen Luschei, parents of Rhodes scholars.

Rabbi and Mrs. Abba M. Finebers.

University debaters Wayne Johnson and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie E. Johnson, and Dale Johnson and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Johnson.

Mrs. Francisco Rites Wednesday

Services for Mrs. Joseph H. Francisco, 645 So. 32nd, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Lincoln, with burial in Lincoln Memorial Park.

Mrs. Francisco died recently in Long Beach, Calif., where she was visiting a son, Ralph.

Surviving are her husband and two sons, Ralph of Long Beach and Ray, a major in the Army.

W. E. Stubbs Rites Will Be In Iowa

Funeral and burial will be in Riverton, Ia., for William E. Stubbs, 60, of Riverton, who died Thursday at Veterans Hospital in Lincoln.

Surviving is his wife, Mildred.

'Take A Kid To Worship' Weekend Scheduled Here

Lincoln adults are urged to "Take a Kid to Worship" during the weekend of Nov. 1, according to Ben E. Kniffin, chairman of the Kiwanis Club committee on support of churches in their spiritual aims.

"The purpose of the inter-denominational observance is to urge all adults to take children, especially less privileged children, to places of worship of their choice," Kniffin said.

Sponsored by the National Kids' Day Foundation and Kiwanis International, the "Take a Kid to Worship" program is staged in conjunction with religious leaders of all faiths, who have designated November as national Religion in American Life month.

"Several religious leaders in Lincoln are planning special programs designed to interest children during the weekend of Nov. 1," Kniffin added.

Road Group Is Off To Good Start, Crosby Believes

The State Advisory Highway Commission was off to a good start in its initial meeting in the opinion of Gov. Robert Crosby.

The governor said he felt that he definitely had an "independent" commission and that he was pleased with the way the members asked "pointed" questions about the operations of the Highway Department.

"I found myself a little bit on the defensive because I regard, naturally, that the Highway Department is one of my departments," the governor said, adding: "But it was fine that they showed this deep interest in learning all they could about the department."

He commented that he felt State Highway Engineer L. N. Ress had shown his ability to adapt himself quickly to the commission set-up.

Gov. Crosby also stated that in his opinion it was "fine" that the members of the commission identified themselves quickly with the problems of the district they represent.

The commission was introduced to heads of the various divisions in the highway department - planning, construction, maintenance, accounting, research.

Commissioner Don Hanna asked about engineering costs, saying he had been told South Dakota's engineering costs were only about 4 per cent of total expenditure.

"It depends on what you're talking about. Our construction engineering cost is about 3 or 4 per cent. But if you include surveying and plans and everything it's more. Perhaps 10 or 11 per cent.

"But a thousand dollars spent on engineering studies will save many thousands of dollars in construction costs later," State Engineer Ress replied.

Commissioner Metzger asked about testing of gravel that goes on state highways.

"I think we get what we pay for," Ress commented.

Members of the commission, include: Coad; Kingsbury; Arthur Albrecht, Deshler farmer; Metzger, Cedar Creek farmer; W. O. Collett, North Platte real estate broker; Hanna, Valentine rancher, and Fred Attebery, Mitchell rancher.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

Teacher Meets Attended By Over 12,000

By the Associated Press

More than 12,000 Nebraska teachers exchanged places with their students Thursday.

Instead of holding the classroom floor, they yielded it in six cities—Omaha, Lincoln, Norfolk, Grand Island, Holdrege and Sidney—to speakers who discussed a wide range of subjects at district meetings of the Nebraska State Education Association.

The football coach is "generally the most popular and influential man on the faculty" among high school students, said one of the speakers who addressed 3,000 teachers attending the District II meeting at Omaha.

And rightly so, said Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of the Peoples Church of Chicago.

"The school's football coach is popular and I think it's a good thing," Dr. Bradley said. "He operates in an area where the student lives.

At Sidney, the District VI meeting learned there is a necessity in education to teach children more about how the citizens of the world are alike instead of how they are different from one another.

Dr John F. Furray, director of air world education for Trans-World Airlines, told more than 1,200 teachers:

As a world traveler, "I have found out all men are basically alike in four ways." They all want a home, food, love and affection and wonder why they're here.

The 1,734 teachers registered for the district meeting at Norfolk heard Dr. Marcus Bach, head of the University of Iowa School of Religion, declare there were three things which make a teacher great.

They were:

He must accept the challenge and put his philosophy, based on those ideals, into words and action.

If a person is to be great in his profession, he must stand ready at any time to go further than expected.

"The big need in America today is a medium for transforming information into understanding," Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant for General Motors, said at Holdrege where 750 teachers are attending the convention.

Friend Grange Services Told To Panel Of National Judges

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

FRIEND, Neb. — The hard-working members of the Friend Grange Thursday laid before a panel of judges their record of community activities for this year in an attempt to win top national honors for the second consecutive year.

The Grange, led by George Asmus, master, completed 23 community service projects this year, ranging in their activity from the clearing of blind road corners to the sponsorship of a German girl's study at the Friend school.

Following is a summary of the activities for 1953:

Polio Benefit: William Houser reported that the Grange sponsored local activities to raise funds for the March of Dimes. $1,560 were gathered for the fund, more than three times the amount raised here the previous year.

Rural-Urban Banquet: In order to promote better understanding between farmers and businessmen the Grange on April 16 held a rural-urban banquet attended by several persons, George Kohout, chairman, reported.

4-H Sponsorship: Warren Weber reported that the Grange sponsored 4-H clubs for boys and girls, with activities ranging from the development of test plots for crops to musical group formation.

Husking Bee: Grange members gathered at the farm of Bernard Murphy, a polio victim near here, and picked 2,200 bushels of corn for him in one co-operative move. Bernard Smith was in charge of this project.

Christmas Committee: Mrs. Fred Berst, chairman, reported that large quantities of clothing and gifts were gathered by ladies of the Grange and sent to institutions and orphanages last Christmas.

Soil Testing: A group of Grange men led a drive to gather soil samples in this area for testing in Lincoln. They were assisted by the College of Agriculture. Frederick Walker reported.

Fire District: Conrad Ohs, chairman, said the Grange sponsored formation of a rural fire district after public hearings on the subject. The district has contracted with the Friend Fire Department.

New Grange: The Friend Grange sponsored the formation of a new Grange at Western which now has a membership of 40. Fred Johansen was in charge of this work.

Blind Corner Removal: Murray Dilley reported that Grange members cleared 32 blind corners on rural roads around Friend, greatly reducing hazards to motorists.

Securing a Veterinarian: Before this year the Friend community had no veterinarian. The Grange led in a drive to secure a veterinarian who has located in Friend, Lyman Drake reported.

Boys State Project: Lester Cogswell told the judges that the Grange sponsored the attendance of a local boy, Bob Samuelson, at Boys State in Lincoln and paid for his expenses there.

Easter Egg Hunt: Mrs. Arthur Swanson reported on an Easter Egg Hunt this spring sponsored by the Grange. The hunt, for members of all churches, was held in the city park.

City Park Work: The Grange, reported Murval Thompson, furnished labor and machines to clear land and to beautify the new location of the city park in Friend. More work will be done on this next year.

Men's Community Chorus: A men's chorus was formed among Grange members to provide musical programs at various local events. William Warner reported on this project.

Cemetery Improvement: Willard Johansen reported that the Grange continued this year an intensive program of beautifying and improving the Friend Cemetery.

Shrine Circus: More than 220 local children were given tickets and transportation to the Shrine Circus in Lincoln this year by the Grange. Albert Stewart was in charge of this project.

Helping Accident Victims: When Willard Johansen was injured in a tractor accident, the Grange, reported Oliver Johansen, gathered at his farm to clear up his field work.

Foreign Relief: Mrs. Lester Cogswell outlined Grange work in gathering clothing for victims of the flood in Holland. More than 20 large packages were sent.

Good Neighbor Project: Grange members in a co-operative move, cleaned up tornado damage at farms near here which suffered in the twisters last May. The work was outlined by Carlton Rohrer.

Student Sponsorship: Members of the Grange made arrangements for bringing a German High School student, Herbert Voigt, to study for a year in the Friend school. She stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kellough.

Amateur Night: Mrs Mary Barney reported that the Grange sponsored an amateur night event held in connection with the Saline County Fair.

Playing Field Improvement: Members built bleachers and concrete rest rooms at the local playing field, Kenneth Kenny reported.

Contributions: According to Gilbert Blanchard, money was raised by the Grange for such organizations as the Boy Scouts, Cancer Fund and Red Cross.

Members of the panel of judges were: E. W. Aiton, national 4-H club leader, Washington, D. C.; Elmaar H. Bakken, national director of rural scouting, New York; Robert Reed, editor of Country Gentleman; Harold Pace, master of the Iowa Grange, and Ira Wilcox, master of the Connecticut Grange.

R. E. Bissey Dies; Retired Farmer At Beaver Crossing

BEAVER CROSSING, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Funeral arrangements are pending for Robert E. Bissey, 63, prominent retired farmer, who died at his home here Thursday.

Born in Seward County, he was a lifetime resident of this vicinity. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and active in civic and farm groups.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret; two daughters, Mrs. Jan Lange of Lincoln and Mrs. Carl W. Pepp of Nashville, Tenn.; a son, Darrel, stationed in Korea; one brother and one sister. Funeral arrangements await word from the son.

Dr. Clark Is Dead; Bertrand Physician

BERTRAND, Neb.—Funeral services were held here Thursday for Dr. G. W. Clark, 80-year-old longtime Bertrand physician.

Anative of Central City, he received his education at Fremont Normal and Creighton Medical College.

First coming to Bertrand in 1904, he later went to Elwood and returned to Bertrand during the flu epidemic of 1919. He was active in civic groups, and was honored for his service during Bertrand's 65th anniversary.

Disputed Highway

Plans to relocate Nebraska Highway 35 in northeast Nebraska between Wayne and Wakefield have been opposed by persons living in the area. The new road would go directly east from Wayne for eight miles, join Highway 16, and run two miles north into Wakefield. The present route extends two miles north from Wayne and then eight miles east to Wakefield. The new road would enter Wakefield at the same point as the present road. The broken line shows the relocation plan. (Star Map.)

Officials Will Discuss Proposed 4-H Building

FAIRBURY, Neb. (AP) — The Jefferson County Extension Committee will meet with 4-H leaders next Tuesday to discuss a proposed new 4-H building project.

Future Farmers of America and 4-H officials have expressed interest in obtaining a building at the County Fairgrounds.

Madison Honors 40-Year Librarian

MADISON, Neb.—Mrs. Anna Johnson, Madison librarian for 40 years, was honored for her service at a special recognition ceremony.

President of the Nebraska Library Association in 1929, Mrs. Johnson reviewed her work and progress of the library. Among those attending the ceremonies were Mrs. Ida Brannan, Madison's first librarian, and Mrs. Ethel Christian, a former librarian.

Friends Present TV Set To Ord Invalid

ORD, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Friends of A. A. Anderson, linotype operator at the Ord Quiz, presented him with a television set, completely installed with antenna and tower. Anderson has been confined to a wheel chair due to an illness which has affected his legs.

While the Anderson family was away on a week-end trip, the installation was made a complete surprise to Anderson. Over 100 friends took part in the project.

Teacher Meets Attended By Over 12,000

By the Associated Press

More than 12,000 Nebraska teachers exchanged places with their students Thursday.

Instead of holding the classroom floor, they yielded it in six cities—Omaha, Lincoln, Norfolk, Grand Island, Holdrege and Sidney—to speakers who discussed a wide range of subjects at district meetings of the Nebraska State Education Association.

The football coach is "generally the most popular and influential man on the faculty" among high school students, said one of the speakers who addressed 3,000 teachers attending the District II meeting at Omaha.

And rightly so, said Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of the Peoples Church of Chicago.

"The school's football coach is popular and I think it's a good thing," Dr. Bradley said. "He operates in an area where the student lives.

At Sidney, the District VI meeting learned there is a necessity in education to teach children more about how the citizens of the world are alike instead of how they are different from one another.

Dr John F. Furray, director of air world education for Trans-World Airlines, told more than 1,200 teachers:

As a world traveler, "I have found out all men are basically alike in four ways." They all want a home, food, love and affection and wonder why they're here.

The 1,734 teachers registered for the district meeting at Norfolk heard Dr. Marcus Bach, head of the University of Iowa School of Religion, declare there were three things which make a teacher great.

They were:

He must accept the challenge and put his philosophy, based on those ideals, into words and action.

If a person is to be great in his profession, he must stand ready at any time to go further than expected.

"The big need in America today is a medium for transforming information into understanding," Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant for General Motors, said at Holdrege where 750 teachers are attending the convention.

Friend Grange Services Told To Panel Of National Judges

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

FRIEND, Neb. — The hard-working members of the Friend Grange Thursday laid before a panel of judges their record of community activities for this year in an attempt to win top national honors for the second consecutive year.

The Grange, led by George Asmus, master, completed 23 community service projects this year, ranging in their activity from the clearing of blind road corners to the sponsorship of a German girl's study at the Friend school.

Following is a summary of the activities for 1953:

Polio Benefit: William Houser reported that the Grange sponsored local activities to raise funds for the March of Dimes. $1,560 were gathered for the fund, more than three times the amount raised here the previous year.

Rural-Urban Banquet: In order to promote better understanding between farmers and businessmen the Grange on April 16 held a rural-urban banquet attended by several persons, George Kohout, chairman, reported.

4-H Sponsorship: Warren Weber reported that the Grange sponsored 4-H clubs for boys and girls, with activities ranging from the development of test plots for crops to musical group formation.

Husking Bee: Grange members gathered at the farm of Bernard Murphy, a polio victim near here, and picked 2,200 bushels of corn for him in one co-operative move. Bernard Smith was in charge of this project.

Christmas Committee: Mrs. Fred Berst, chairman, reported that large quantities of clothing and gifts were gathered by ladies of the Grange and sent to institutions and orphanages last Christmas.

Soil Testing: A group of Grange men led a drive to gather soil samples in this area for testing in Lincoln. They were assisted by the College of Agriculture, Frederick Walker reported.

Fire District: Conrad Ohs, chairman, said the Grange sponsored formation of a rural fire district after public hearings on the subject. The district has contracted with the Friend Fire Department.

New Granges: The Friend Grange sponsored the formation of a new Grange at Western which now has a membership of 40. Fred Johansen was in charge of this work.

Blind Corner Removal: Murray Dilley reported that Grange members cleared 32 blind corners on rural roads around Friend, greatly reducing hazards to motorists.

Securing a Veterinarian: Before this year the Friend community had no veterinarian. The Grange led in a drive to secure a veterinarian who has located in Friend, Lyman Drake reported.

Boys State Project: Lester Cogswell told the judges that the Grange sponsored the attendance of a local boy, Bob Samuelson, at Boys State in Lincoln and paid for his expenses there.

Easter Egg Hunt: Mrs. Arthur Swanson reported on an Easter Egg Hunt this spring sponsored by the Grange. The hunt, for members of all churches, was held in the city park.

City Park Work: The Grange, reported Murval Thompson, furnished labor and machines to clear land and to beautify the new location of the city park in Friend. More work will be done on this next year.

Men's Community Chorus: A men's chorus was formed among Grange members to provide musical programs at various local events. William Warner reported on this project.

Cemetery Improvement: Willard Johansen reported that the Grange continued this year an intensive program of beautifying and improving the Friend Cemetery.

Shrine Circus: More than 220 local children were given tickets and transportation to the Shrine Circus in Lincoln this year by the Grange. Albert Stewart was in charge of this project.

Helping Accident Victims: When Willard Johansen was injured in a tractor accident, the Grange, reported Oliver Johansen, gathered at his farm to clear up his field work.

Foreign Relief: Mrs. Lester Cogswell outlined Grange work in gathering clothing for victims of the flood in Holland. More than 20 large packages were sent.

Good Neighbor Project: Grange members in a co-operative move, cleaned up tornado damage at farms near here which suffered in the twisters last May. The work was outlined by Carlton Robrer.

Student Sponsorship: Members of the Grange made arrangements for bringing a German High School student, Herbert Voigt, to study for a year in the Friend school. She stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kellough.

Amateur Night: Mrs. Mary Barney reported that the Grange sponsored an amateur night event held in connection with the Saline County Fair.

Playing Field Improvement: Members built bleachers and concrete rest rooms at the local playing field, Kenneth Kenny reported.

Contributions: According to Gilbert Blanchard, money was raised by the Grange for such organizations as the Boy Scouts, Cancer Fund and Red Cross.

Members of the panel of judges were: E. W. Aiton, national 4-H club leader, Washington, D. C.; Elmaar H. Bakken, national director of rural scouting, New York; Robert Reed, editor of Country Gentleman; Harold Pace, master of the Iowa Grange, and Ira Wilcox, master of the Connecticut Grange.

R. E. Bissey Dies; Retired Farmer At Beaver Crossing

BEAVER CROSSING, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Funeral arrangements are pending for Robert E. Bissey, 63, prominent retired farmer, who died at his home here Thursday.

Born in Seward County, he was a lifetime resident of this vicinity. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and active in civic and farm groups.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret; two daughters, Mrs. Jan Lange of Lincoln and Mrs. Carl W. Pepp of Nashville, Tenn.; a son, Darrel, stationed in Korea; one brother and one sister. Funeral arrangements await word from the son.

Dr. Clark Is Dead; Bertrand Physician

BERTRAND, Neb.—Funeral services were held here Thursday for Dr. G. W. Clark, 80-year-old longtime Bertrand physician.

Anative of Central City, he received his education at Fremont Normal and Creighton Medical College.

First coming to Bertrand in 1904, he later went to Elwood and returned to Bertrand during the flu epidemic of 1919. He was active in civic groups, and was honored for his service during Bertrand's 65th anniversary.

Disputed Highway

Plans to relocate Nebraska Highway 35 in northeast Nebraska between Wayne and Wakefield have been opposed by persons living in the area. The new road would go directly east from Wayne for eight miles, join Highway 16, and run two miles north into Wakefield. The present route extends two miles north from Wayne and then eight miles east to Wakefield. The new road would enter Wakefield at the same point as the present road. The broken line shows the relocation plan. (Star Map.)

Officials Will Discuss Proposed 4-H Building

FAIRBURY, Neb. (AP) — The Jefferson County Extension Committee will meet with 4-H leaders next Tuesday to discuss a proposed new 4-H building project.

Future Farmers of America and 4-H officials have expressed interest in obtaining a building at the County Fairgrounds.

Madison Honors 40-Year Librarian

MADISON, Neb.—Mrs. Anna Johnson, Madison librarian for 40 years, was honored for her service at a special recognition ceremony.

President of the Nebraska Library Association in 1929, Mrs. Johnson reviewed her work and progress of the library. Among those attending the ceremonies were Mrs. Ida Brannian, Madison's first librarian, and Miss Ethel Christian, a former librarian.

Friends Present TV Set To Ord Invalid

ORD, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Friends of Asa Anderson, linotype operator at the Ord Quiz, presented him with a television set, completely installed with antenna and tower. Anderson has been confined to a wheel chair due to an illness which has affected his legs.

While the Anderson family was away on a week-end trip, the installation was made as a complete surprise to Anderson. Over 100 friends took part in the project.

Just Our Dish Of Tea

A New Name, that of Miss Sally Mallory, is added this morning to the list of prominent Lincoln girls who have chosen December dates for their weddings —The bride-elect, popular in campus and town circles, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Mallory. Her fiance is Lt. Douglas Dale of the Air Force.

THIS VERY exiciting weekend is just our dish of tea—there's news everywhere — Taking top spot is a betrothal announcement of far more than casual interest — and then, as everyone knows, this is a game week-end, and we have learned of more and more guests who are arriving —more parties, more this and that and everything.

But, as we said, the top news interest is the betrothal announcement — and here it is—

* * *

THIS MORNING Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher Mallory are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sally, to Lt. Douglas R. Dale, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dale of Ord.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Dec. 26, and the ceremony will be solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Miss Mallory is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Lt. Dale, who now is stationed at Hondo, Tex., where he is taking bomber pilot training, was graduated from the University of Nebraska, and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

* * *

AND NOW about the guests who will be coming for the game week-end—The governor's mansion is to be a busy place between now and Sunday, for Governor and Mrs. Robert Crosby are having house guests—the governor's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Crosby of North Platte — and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Hewitt and their son, Richard, of Omaha.

Following the game on Saturday Governor and Mrs. Crosby will honor their visitors when they entertain at a buffet supper. Fifty guests have been invited.

THEN WE heard that Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Harris of Ottowa, Kans., are arriving today to spend the week-end as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Reed. On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Reed will compliment Mr. and Mrs. Harris when they preside at a table for 30 at the Lincoln Country club's post-game dinner dance. Other out of town guests at the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Milo Hewitt, also of Ottowa—and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDonald of Hastings.

* * *

AND THIS is the day that a guest arrives from the west coast—Robert L. Grainger, who comes from Salinas, Calif., to join Mrs. Grainger and their two young sons at the home of Mrs. Grainger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. White—

Complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Grainger on Saturday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Burton Folsom who will be a dinner host and hostess at their home.

* * *

MORE WEST coast visitors are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Chenowith who arrived Thursday morning from Brentwood, Los Angeles, Calif., for a very brief stay in town. Mr. and Mrs. Chenoweth stopped off for a visit with Mr. Chenoweth's mother, Mrs. Anna B. Pierson, and will leave again on Sunday for Chicago—and on to New York City—We's suspecting the Chenoweths of nicely timing their visit for the homecoming game—as well as being in Lincoln for a day or two before Mrs. Chenoweth's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Grainger, leave to return to their home in Salinas.

* * *

WE ALREADY have told you about the eightsome from McPherson, Kan. — Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Howard McInteer, who will arrive by plane this afternoon to spend the week-end as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Sidles—We also mentioned the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Sidles will be host and hostess this evening at their home—and the party at which they will preside at the Lincoln Country Club on Saturday evening—

But we didn't tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spangler will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Sidles and their guests at brunch on Sunday morning at their home.

* * *

SOMEONE just told us that Mr. and Mrs. Ford Bates of Omaha are arriving today and will be the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Allen—On Saturday evening Mr .and Mrs. Bates will be included in some post-game festivities at the University Club when they join the members of a dinner club to which Mr. and Mrs. Allen belong.

To Entertain At "Herb" Tea

Mrs. George G. Swingle will entertain the members of the Lincoln Green Thumbs at an "herb" tea, Friday afternoon, at her home, 3150 South 31st.

Hallowe'en Tea Saturday

To celebrate her fifteenth birthday anniversary on Nov. 4, Miss Bobbie Jo Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kelly, will entertain at a Hallowe'en tea Saturday afternoon, at her home, 1940 South 48th.

A group of fifty guests has been invited, and assisting Miss Kelly with the serving will be Miss Sally Downs, Miss Diana Gease and Miss Judy Mueller.

A Guest Trio in Lincoln are Mrs. Robert L. Grainger and her two young sons, Johnny (left) and Billy, who arrived a few days ago from Salinas, Calif., for a visit with Mrs. Grainger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. White. Since her arrival Mrs. Grainger has been the incentive for numerous courtesies.

Miss Meyer will be honored on Sunday, Nov. 1, when her finance's sisters, Miss Vera Deinert, and Miss Alice Deinert, entertain at a 1:30 o'clock dessert luncheon and miscellaneous shower at the home of their mother, Mrs. Victor Deinert. Fifteen guests have been invited.

Miss Carole Church, whose marriage to Jack W. Walker of Beaumont, Tex., will be solemnized at 4 o'clock, at First Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday, Nov. 25, has announced that she has chosen her sister, Miss Barbara Church, as her maid of honor, and that Miss Barbara Deibler, Harrisburg, Pa., will be the bridesmaid. Lighting the candles will be another sister of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Dwain Ehrlich (Shirley Church) from Hebron, and Miss Beverly Beal.

The best men will be Jack McKenzie, uncle of the bridegroom, from New York City, and Donald Salee, Avo, Mo.

Norman Church, the bride-elect's brother, Dwain Ehrlich, Hebron, and Charles Todd III, Beaumont, Tex., are the ushers.

Sailing For Iran

Tomorrow is the day that Miss Mary E. Ames (left) and her niece, Miss Julie McCutchan leave for New York City from where they will sail next Wednesday for Europe.

Miss McCutchan will attend a girls' college, Honorestan Dokhtaran, in Teheran, Iran, for a year. Miss Ames also plans to remain in Iran for several months.

The members of the Junior Red Cross met Thursday in the Red Cross offices to pack 100 boxes as gifts to servicemen on the high seas at Christmas.

Extension Club Hears Lesson

Members of the Double E Extension Club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Samuelson. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Marguerite Werner presided at the business meeting, and the lesson on, "Personalize Your Christmas Cards," was given by Mrs. Ivan Armstrong and Mrs. Peter Lerdall.

At the close of the afternoon, a luncheon was served by the hostess. A guest of the club was Mrs. Merle Hunt.

The next meeting will be held Saturday, Nov. 21, at the home of Mrs. Werner.

Just Our Dish Of Tea

A New Name, that of Miss Sally Mallory, is added this morning to the list of prominent Lincoln girls who have chosen December dates for their weddings —The bride-elect, popular in campus and town circles, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Mallory. Her fiance is Lt. Douglas Dale of the Air Force.

THIS VERY exiciting week-end is just our dish of tea—there's news everywhere — Taking top spot is a betrothal announcement of far more than casual interest — and then, as everyone knows, this is a game week-end, and we have learned of more and more guests who are arriving —more parties, more this and that and everything.

But, as we said, the top news interest is the betrothal announcement — and here it is—

* * *

THIS MORNING Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher Mallory are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sally, to Lt. Douglas R. Dale, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dale of Ord.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Dec. 26, and the ceremony will be solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Miss Mallory is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Lt. Dale, who now is stationed at Hondo, Tex., where he is taking bomber pilot training, was graduated from the University of Nebraska, and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

* * *

AND NOW about the guests who will be coming for the game week-end—The governor's mansion is to be a busy place between now and Sunday, for Governor and Mrs. Robert Crosby are having house guests—the governor's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Crosby of North Platte — and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Hewitt and their son, Richard, of Omaha.

Following the game on Saturday Governor and Mrs. Crosby will honor their visitors when they entertain at a buffet supper. Fifty guests have been invited.

THEN WE heard that Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Harris of Ottowa, Kans., are arriving today to spend the week-end as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Reed. On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Reed will compliment Mr. and Mrs. Harris when they preside at a table for 30 at the Lincoln Country club's post-game dinner dance. Other out of town guests at the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Milo Hewitt, also of Ottowa—and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDonald of Hastings.

* * *

AND THIS is the day that a guest arrives from the west coast—Robert L. Grainger, who comes from Salinas, Calif., to join Mrs. Grainger and their two young sons at the home of Mrs. Grainger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. White—

Complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Grainger on Saturday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Burton Folsom who will be a dinner host and hostess at their home.

* * *

MORE WEST coast visitors are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Chenowith who arrived Thursday morning from Brentwood, Los Angeles, Calif., for a very brief stay in town. Mr. and Mrs. Chenoweth stopped off for a visit with Mr. Chenoweth's mother, Mrs. Anna B. Pierson, and will leave again on Sunday for Chicago—and on to New York City—We's suspecting the Chenoweths of nicely timing their visit for the homecoming game—as well as being in Lincoln for a day or two before Mrs. Chenoweth's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Grainger, leave to return to their home in Salinas.

* * *

WE ALREADY have told you about the eightsome from McPherson, Kan. — Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Howard McInteer, who will arrive by plane this afternoon to spend the week-end as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Sidles—We also mentioned the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Sidles will be host and hostess this evening at their home—and the party at which they will preside at the Lincoln Country Club on Saturday evening—

But we didn't tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spangler will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Sidles and their guests at brunch on Sunday morning at their home.

* * *

SOMEONE just told us that Mr. and Mrs. Ford Bates of Omaha are arriving today and will be the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Allen—On Saturday evening Mr .and Mrs. Bates will be included in some post-game festivities at the University Club when they join the members of a dinner club to which Mr. and Mrs. Allen belong.

To Entertain At "Herb" Tea

Mrs. George G. Swingle will entertain the members of the Lincoln Green Thumbs at an "herb" tea, Friday afternoon, at her home, 3150 South 31st.

Hallowe'en Tea Saturday

To celebrate her fifteenth birthday anniversary on Nov. 4, Miss Bobbie Jo Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kelly, will entertain at a Hallowe'en tea Saturday afternoon, at her home, 1940 South 48th.

A group of fifty guests has been invited, and assisting Miss Kelly with the serving will be Miss Sally Downs, Miss Diana Gease and Miss Judy Mueller.

A Guest Trio in Lincoln are Mrs. Robert L. Grainger and her two young sons, Johnny (left) and Billy, who arrived a few days ago from Salinas, Calif., for a visit with Mrs. Grainger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. White. Since her arrival Mrs. Grainger has been the incentive for numerous courtesies.

The Brides' Book Says:

Miss Verna Meyer, who will marry Harold Deinert on Nov. 22, at St. Paul Evangelical and Reformed Church, also is announcing the members of her bridal party this morning.

Miss Iva Meyer will serve her sister as maid of honor, and the matron of honor is Mrs. Glenn Ninneman. The bridesmaids are Miss Alice Deinert and Miss Vera Deinert, sisters of the bridegroom-to-be, and Mrs. Ivan Riggle, Endicott. Lighting the candles will be Miss Norene Meyer and Miss Wilma Deinert, Mitchell, S.D.

The flower girls are Diane and Susan Meyer and Dennis Deinert, Mt. Vernon, S.D., will be the ringbearer.

Harvey Deinert will serve his brother as best man and the ushers include Owen Herter, Walton; Glenn Ninneman, William Werkmeister, and Walter Deinert, Mt. Vernon, S.D.

Miss Meyer will be honored on Sunday, Nov. 1, when her finance's sisters, Miss Vera Deinert, and Miss Alice Deinert, entertain at a 1:30 o'clock dessert luncheon and miscellaneous shower at the home of their mother, Mrs. Victor Deinert. Fifteen guests have been invited.

Miss Carole Church, whose marriage to Jack W. Walker of Beaumont, Texas, will be solemnized at 4 o'clock, at First Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday, Nov. 25, has announced that she has chosen her sister, Miss Barbara Church, as her maid of honor, and that Miss Barbara Deibler, Harrisburg, Pa., will be the bridesmaid. Lighting the candles will be another sister of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Dwain Ehrlich (Shirley Church) from Hebron, and Miss Beverly Beal.

The best men will be Jack McKenzie, uncle of the bridegroom, from New York City, and Donald Salee, Avo, Mo.

Norman Church, the bride-elect's brother, Dwain Ehrlich, Hebron, and Charles Todd III, Beaumont, Tex., are the ushers.

Sailing For Iran

Tomorrow is the day that Miss Mary E. Ames (left) and her niece, Miss Julie McCutchan leave for New York City from where they will sail next Wednesday for Europe.

Miss McCutchan will attend a girls' college, Honorestan Dokhtaran, in Teheran, Iran, for a year. Miss Ames also plans to remain in Iran for several months.

Beta Sigma Phi

The members of Alpha Rho Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Wednesday evening in the chapter rooms. Mrs. Ralph Capanskiy gave a talk on flower arranging, after which Mrs. Clyde Zimmerman was elected treasurer.

Included on the hostess committee were Mrs. Clinton Stanley and Mrs. Clyde Zimmerman. Mrs. Coreen Kautzman was a guest at the meeting.

Club Council To Meet Friday

The regular fall meeting of the Lancaster County Extension Club Council will be held at 1:30 o'clock, Friday, in room 306 of the Post Office Building.

Council officers will be elected by the presidents representing the 54 extension clubs in the county, and reports on the recent state meeting at Norfolk will be given. The group also will discuss plans for the annual Achievement Day program.

Camp Fire Girls Donate Help

Taking advantage of a few days vacation from school, members of Mrs. Irving Minary's Camp Fire Girls group trooped to the office of the Lancaster County Tuberculosis Association, Thursday, to volunteer their services for a community agency.

All sixth graders at College View school, the girls are, standing, from left to right, Susan Durfee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Durfee; Judy Leeke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Leeke; Cynthia Rank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arno P. Rank; Jackie Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Couch.

Liberty Club Plans Dance

Holding their first dance of the season on Saturday evening will be the members of the Liberty Dancing Club who will entertain at a Hallowe'en party at the Masonic Temple, 1635 L.

In charge of arrangements for the dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Otto, chairmen, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Burley, Mr. and Mrs. Claude F. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Oquist, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Kouba, Miss Ella Demming and Earl Taylor.

Lennox Club Has Guests

Mrs. H. C. Brady entertained the members of the Lennox Club at her home Wednesday afternoon when the guests included Mrs. C. E. Delaney, Mrs. C. G. Splain and Mrs. Julia Peterson. The afternoon hours were spent with games after which refreshments were served by the hostess at a table appointed in the Hallowe'en motif.

Red Cross

The members of the Junior Red Cross met Thursday in the Red Cross offices to pack 100 boxes as gifts to servicemen on the high seas at Christmas.

Extension Club Hears Lesson

Members of the Double E Extension Club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Samuelson. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Marguerite Werner presided at the business meeting, and the lesson on, "Personalize Your Christmas Cards," was given by Mrs. Ivan Armstrong and Mrs. Peter Lerdall.

At the close of the afternoon, a luncheon was served by the hostess. A guest of the club was Mrs. Merle Hunt.

The next meeting will be held Saturday, Nov. 21, at the home of Mrs. Werner.

Brides of Late October

MRS. GAYLE GARDELS MRS. H. MERRITT AUSTIN

CHRISTENSEN-GARDELS

Miss Lois Christensen, of Lincoln, became the bride of Gayle Gardels, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gardels of Wilcox, at an 8 o'clock ceremony solemnized Thursday evening, Oct. 29. The chancel of Grace Church was appointed with lighted white candles and arrangements of white chrysanthemums, and tall white candles ornamented with nosegays of the blossoms marked the processional aisle for the service, which was read by Dr. Leland H. Lesher.

A prelude of organ music was presented by Mrs. Gwen Fisher who also played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Norma Schritt, vocalist.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Don Christensen, and attending her cousin as bridesmaid was Miss Rosalie Jensen. Iridescent taffeta in the blue-violet shade fashioned their alike frocks which were designed with fitted basques and full waltz-length skirts. They wore headdresses of the taffeta and carried nosegays of pink roses.

For her wedding, the bride wore a danseuse-length gown of white imported lace and nylon tulle. A small Peter Pan collar accented the long-sleeved bodice of lace, and the lace extended into deep points to trim the full-gathered skirt of tulle. Her veil of English silk illusion was held to the head of a Juliet cap of lace traced with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Serving Mr. Gardels as best man was Larry Fuerst of Wilcox, and the ushers were Don Christensen, brother of the bride, and Jack Crawford of Lincoln, George Lannin, North Platte, and Joyce Young of Wilcox.

A former student at Midland College, Fremont, the bride is a member of Tri Phi sorority. Mr. Gardels is a graduate of Midland College, where he is a member of Wynn fraternity, and is now serving with the armed forces.

OSTERMAN-AUSTIN

White candles burning in floor candelabra, and tall arrangements of white pompon chrysanthemums, pink gladioli and purple-toned erianthus appointed the chancel of the University Lutheran Chapel in Lincoln Thursday evening, Oct. 29, for the marriage of Miss Anita Osterman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Osterman of Denton, and H. Merritt Austin, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Austin of Nebraska City. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. W. W. Koenig, minister of Calvary Lutheran Church.

As the 300 guests assembled, Miss Miriam Sinner of Lincoln, and Miss Patty Johnson of Murray lighted the candles, and Mrs. Merwyn French Jr. sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "Prayer Perfect." She was accompanied by Mrs. Gene Oetting, organist, who also played the wedding music.

Miss Elaine Osterman of Lincoln was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaid was Miss Olive Belle Page of Lexington. Miss Osterman, in purple, and the bridesmaid, in pink, wore alike frocks fashioned with velvet bodices and full skirts of net over satin. Costumed in lavender taffeta was the flower girl, Miss Nancy Austin of Lincoln, niece of the bridegroom.

White Chantilly-type lace and satin were chosen by the bride for her wedding gown designed in the Elizabethan mode. A small collar traced with pearls accented the deep illusion yoke of the molded lace bodice, and the sleeves were long and fitted. The lace was repeated in wide panels to trip the full satin skirt, which tapered into a train, and her lace-edged veil of illusion was held by a cap of velvet bordered with pearls. She carried a cascade of white and pink roses.

Serving his brother as best man was Albert Austin of Lincoln, and the ushers were Conrad Erickson of Burwell and Carroll Donner of Valentine.

A reception was held in the chapel parlors after which the couple left for a trip to the Ozarks.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin will reside at Douglas where the bridegroom is a member of the high school faculty. Both are graduates of the University of Nebraska, and Mrs. Austin is a member of Delta Phi Delta art fraternity.

Football Attendance Down; Border Loop Sets Pace

Big Seven Drops 4.37% From Last Year's Gate

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Football attendance at major college games fell off a bit during the first half of the 1953 season, but the Ivy League, the Border Conference and two of the south's three major leagues showed there's nothing wrong that a few rousing games and aroused alumni can't cure.

The Ivy group admittedly doesn't produce the best football in the world and it counts on the "family" attendance of old grads, students and their friends and relatives to fill the stadium seats. But the Ivy Colleges and the comparatively small Border Conference registered the two big gains in attendance during September and October while the big time leagues were losing ground.

The eight Ivy schools have played 27 games so far and have had an average attendance of 23,873. That's just 1,000 a game more than the figure for 28 games at the same stage of the 1952 season—or an increase of 4.37 per cent.

The seven-school Border Conference in 23 games, has shown a 4.48 per cent improvement over last year's attendance figures with an average of 10,482 per game.

The Southern and Southeastern Conferences were the only other major groups to turn in improved attendance figures for the mid-season Associated Press survey. The Southern, minus seven members which dropped out to form the Atlantic Coast Conference, is up 1.18 per cent in attendance while crowds at Southeastern Conference games have increased by 0.79 per cent.

The Atlantic Coast Conferences colleges, which felt they had outstripped the other members of the old league, haven't been doing as well as usual. Due in part to the losses at North Carolina, where the effects of a couple of bad seasons are being felt, attendance for this group is down more than 10 per cent. . . . . .

On a national scale, the attendance decline doesn't amount to a great deal and the November big games may change the whole situation. The reason most frequently offered to explain the dwindling crowds was "unattractive schedules"—including fewer "big" games and changes in the sites of important contests.

The figures reveal that the members of eleven major conferences, plus 14 "major" independents, have played fewer games so far than they had at this time a year ago. And when the attendance figures are totaled up, the decline in attendance comes out at 3.335 per cent.

Last year in 324 games, the teams drew 7,800,850 spectators, an average of 24,077 per game. This year they have played to 7,168,514 in 308 games, for a 23,274 average—just 803 fewer per game.

Glassford Fears Kansas Running; Pierce Here

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

"We fear Kansas' running game more than the passing," commented Coach Bill Glassford Thursday as he hustled his Nebraska Cornhuskers through a final polishing.

Don Pierce

Glassford pointed to Jayhawk speed, carried by a pair of mercury - hoofed halfbacks in Don Hess and Bob Allison. He beckoned to the fullback power Coach Jules Sikes has mustered in Frank Sabatini and the Grand Island, Neb., transplant, John Anderson.

The possible loss of Bob Oberlin, the Huskers' top defensive center, added fuel to Glassford's fear of a rampant running attack. When Oberlin left the Missouri fray with injuries, the Tigers began pouring through midline.

If Oberlin's sprained ankel does not respond by game time, his spot will be filled by either Jim Oliver or Ted Britt. The hard-working Oliver, after playing well against Illinois, has had defensive lapses.

Otherwise, Glassford said he would stick with the starting lineup he announced earlier in the week, including Bill Schabacker and Andy Loehr, ends; Ted Connor and Jerry Minnick, tackles; Max Kitzelman and either Don Glantz or Bob Wagner, guards; John Bordogna, quarterback; Jon McWilliams and Bob Smith, halfbacks, and Ray Novak, fullback.

Dennis Korinek, the leading ground-gainer, continued as the No. 3 right halfback, behind McWilliams and Jim Yeisley, who doubles at full.

Odds on the game have simmered down to a one-point edge for Kansas.

Don (The Whale) Pierce, erudite Kansas publicity chieftan, arrived in Lincoln as a one-man advance man Thursday. The Jayhawk squad, traveling by train, will not arrive until 10:15 p.m. Friday.

Pierce, a former tackle of no small renown, immediately substantiated Glassford's fear of a ground attack by focusing his verbs on End Morris Kay. Sair Pierce, as he washed down a coke:

"If there was a Big Seven award for "Comeback of the Year," it would go to Morris Kay, Kansas' grim left end.

"Just a year ago, Kay was hospitalized fighting off a mild attack of polio. Now he is playing as good all-round wing as any candidate in the circuit. Furthermore, he is playing it both ways . . . he formally was a defensive specialist . . . and, through the first six games, logged more than 55 minutes playing time on three occasions.

"The sturdy St. John's senior is likely to suffer in statistical comparisons with other circuit wingmen because pass receiving is the only arithmetical measuring stick for terminals. He has flagged only two for 45 yards. But the Jayhawkers are throwing far less than usual, having put up just 56 heaves through the first six games.

"Furthermore, one of Kay's grabs went for a 20-yard gain to set-up the winning touchdown against Colorado. If the Hawkers' were a passing team, he would gain prominence as a fine receiver. For he owns enough speed and enough agility.

"Be that as it may, Kay is a heavy scorer in the visual and auditory columns with his blocking and tackling. He likewise rates at the top of the graph in determination, leadership and stamina.

"In the latter department, for instance, he had enough left in the fourth quarter at Boulder, despite the 90-degree heat and single-wing battering to chase down Buffalo fullback Emerson Wilson who broke loose for 40 yards with a convoy of blockers ahead of him.

"Said Herd Line Coach Marshall Wells after the game . . . "Want to know who won the game for Kansas? That No. 87 (Kay). Wilson would have gone all the way if he hadn't been caught from behind."

"Kay is a 6-2, 191-pounder with no overbalance of ability in any one department. He is good in all. More important he is mentally tough and physically rugged.

"Fact is, Kay is a prototype in style and character of Hub Ulrich, now Jayhawker terminal coach, who Gwinn Henry labelled "the almost perfect end" back in 1941 when the big guy from Quinter was all-conference with a second division eleven."

Peru Wins Close One From Cats

NEBRASKA CITY — Wayne's surprising Wildcats held the powerful Peru Bobcats on even terms for all but two minutes of their Nebraska College Conference game here Thursday night but the Bobcats won, 13-7.

With two minutes to go in the fourth quarter Peru Quarterback Ned Eckman, on a bootleg pass play, threw to Wendell Holmes in the end zone for the winning touchdown. The play carried 22 yards.

Wayne scored first in a game dominated by rugged line play. With 4:25 to play in the first period Wildcat Halfback Jim Anderson bucked over from the one after a 14-play drive. Don Harris converted from placement.

The TD was set up by a fumble recovery on the Peru 41.

Wayne threats kept the Bobcats off balance until late in the third period.

Wayne's Don Kellogg missed a field goal attempt from the Peru 26 and the Bobcats took over on their own 20 to march 80 yards. The drive almost fizzled when a five-yard offside penalty gave Peru the ball on the one-yard line.

Eckman finally scored on a one-foot sneak over the middle. He converted to tie the score with 1:59 left in the period.

A Peru field-goal attempt in the last period failed on the Wayne 16. When the Wildcats took over, Jerold Dennis fumbled on the 22-yard line and Peru was rolling again. On the next play Eckman tossed to Holmes in the end zone.

Johnny Sain Steps Down

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP)—One of the New York Yankees ace hurlers, Johnny Sain, Thursday announced his retirement from baseball after 11 years of playing in the majors.

The 34-year-old Sain, a winning hurler for the Yankees during the 1953 World Series, said he would devote all his time to managing a Chevrolet automobile agency here.

Sain, who started playing organized baseball in 1936, broke into the majors in 1942 with the old Boston Braves.

Sain said the Yankee management was informed of his plans in a letter mailed this week. He said last spring that he decided "this is my last year."

Sain said he had told Yankee Manager Casey Stengel of his plans when it was apparent the pennant had been clinched in September. He said Stengel was the only man in baseball who knew of his decision.

Cathedral Homecoming Game Tonight Their Finale

Three Top Games On Local Prep Slate

Friday is a feast night for Capital City grid fans, with three interesting games scheduled on local fields.

Lincoln High, Northeast and Cathedral are home. College View played Wednesday night.

An old gridiron rivalry is renewed at the Oval Friday night when Lincoln High plays Omaha Tech. The teams were old Missouri Valley Conference foes and continued to play after the dissolution of the conference.

Lincoln last played the Maroons in 1950, taking a 39-6 win at the Oval.

Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m. The Links will be favored although Tech may have a weight advantage.

Northeast will open relations with Abraham Lincoln of Council Bluffs at Magee Stadium tonight. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Sporting a 4-3 record the Rockets will be after their second straight win. The Abe Lynx will be rated at least even with Northeast.

The fast Council Bluffs crew owns a 21-13 victory over Tech and has had only one bad game, a 41-6 loss to Creighton Prep.

Filling out the attractive menu is Cathedral's meeting with Weeping Water. In addition to being the last home game of the season for the Bluebirds it is their homecoming game.

Cathedral, with a 4-3 record, will be favored to make it two wins in a row tonight. Eleven Cathedral seniors will be making their last appearance before the home folks. Kick-off is at 8 p.m. at College View Field.

Aroujo Faces Davis

NEW YORK (AP)—George Araujo starts all over again Saturday night in the same ring where he was knocked out by Lightweight Champion Jimmy Carter in his ill-fated title bid. Araujo, a newlywed, gets no soft touch in his Madison Square Garden return. He is matched with Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, who beat him in 10 rounds at Boston, Sept. 10. The 10-round bout, scheduled for 9 u.m., CST, will be carried on network radio (ABC) and television (NBC) coast to coast.

The Firing Line

Soothsaying this "platoonless" fall is a mighty risky business.

Go strictly by comparative scores and you're liable to come up with little Colorado A&M (Fort Collins) beating mighty Michigan State.

It goes like this: Colorado A&M beat Kansas State. Kansas State beat Drake. Drake beat Iowa State. Iowa State upset Missouri. Missouri edged Purdue. And Purdue, of course, rocked the football world by snapping Michigan State's 28-game victory streak Saturday.

Colorado A&M over Michigan State—that's what the records say!

We bring this to mind as we issue our prediction on the Nebraska-Kansas business of Saturday. There is no common denominator between the teams, so it's strictly shut your peepers and punch, thus:

Kansas 20, Nebraska 13—This is based strictly on the Huskers' showing against Missouri. Kansas would seem to have too much all-around punch, especially in the blocking and passing departments. If the Huskers are up to their Illinois or Pittsburgh showings, the score could be something like, "Nebraska 27, Kansas 14."

ELSEWHERE BIG SEVEN

Oklahoma 33, Kansas State 20—A real scrap for two quarters.

Colorado 20, Iowa State 14—Buffs bounce back.

Missouri 14, Indiana 13—Tigers launching a real comeback.

Our exclusive pipeline to International News Service dictates the following unguaranteed predictions:

MIDWEST

Notre Dame 28, Navy 7—Title-bound Irish pass another hurdle. (Courtesy Chick Connelly).

Illinois 28, Purdue 0—Illini bring Purdue back to earth.

Michigan 21, Pennsylvania 7—Wolverines rebound with fury.

Michiga State 35, Oregon State 7—Spartans back on war path.

Northwestern 21, Ohio State 14—Might go other way.

Minnesota 28, Pittsburgh 14—That man Paul Giel again.

Wisconsin 14, Iowa 13—A toss-up.

SOUTHWEST

Texas A&M 27, Arkansas 7—Aggies back in win column.

Baylor 21, Texas Christian 7—Bears remain undefeated.

Southern Methodist 14, Texas 13—Mustangs in close battle.

Rice 28, Kentucky 14 — Rice has reserve strength.

Oklahoma A&M 21, Tulsa 20—Another tossup.

WEST

UCLA 21, Calif., 20—Bruins can hold the ball.

Stanford 20, Wash. State 14—Indians smell roses.

USC 27, Oregon 7 — Trojans trample Webfoots.

Washington 14, Utah 13—Huskies' hustle takes this one.

SOUTH

Army 20, Tulane 0 — Black Knights surfboard over Green Wave.

Ole Miss 14, Texas Tech 7—Jackie Parker brands the Red Raiders.

Georgia 19, Alabama 13 — Bratkowski concludes his last game in glory.

Auburn 21, Florida 6—Auburn determined to regain prestige after Tech.

North Carolina 14, Tennessee 13—A tossup and a bruising, bitter battle.

Wake Forrest 12, Clemson 7—The Deacs have Sonny George, Clemson a new system.

Duke 28, Virginia 6 — Blue Devils advertise strength after Army faux pas.

Georgia Tech 28, Vanderbilt 0—Tech rests bruises from South Bend tragedy.

Mississippi 13, LSU 6—LSU Tiger fail to check fading effectiveness.

EAST

Miami 27, Fordham 21—Miami ends spell difference. Chance for upset.

Cornell 21, Columbia 14—Cornell line to offset Columbia's passes.

Yale 14, Dartmouth 7—Yale doesn't score much but Dartmouth score less.

Colgate 28, Rutgers 7—Lalla's passes will run Rutgers dizzy.

Brown 21, Princeton 14—Brown on upsurge.

Syracuse 28, Holy Cross 21—H. C. muffs too many chances in clutches.

W. Virginia 21, Penn State 20—This one a toss-up. Edge to stronger bench.

Marquette 28, Boston U. 14—Marquette's been playing much tougher foes.

Harvard 21, Davidson 6—Harvard and Clasby have too much speed.

Boston College 21, Richmond 20—Another toss-up.

Overhauling the NEWS

By WALLY DeBROWN

A fellow was kibitzing on a football practice earlier this fall, and on one new play the boys were as confused as a stranger at a cross roads. They just didn't understand their assignments. Then the coach said, "Okay, fellows, lets walk through it." So they did . . . each man learning in slow motion what he had to do. Then the coach gave orders to run the play at full speed. This time everything went smooth as peach fuzz.

This anecdote got us to thinking what a great system this would be for all of us whenever we get all tensed up about some new problems. Instead of rushing wildly ahead, if we'd just take time to "walk through" the problem a few times we'd probably soon find that we could handle it with a minimum amount of misery.

One of the national magazines recently carried an article with the title, "Emotional Upsets Are Good for You." Maybe so . . . but they're tough on everyone around you. What's good for one isn't always good for another. That goes for cars as well as people. There are all kinds of used cars. Don't take a chance. The Southern, minus seven members which dropped out to form the Atlantic Coast Conference, is up 1.18 per cent in attendance while crowds at Southeastern Conference games have increased by 0.79 per cent.

The Atlantic Coast Conferences colleges, which felt they had outstripped the other members of the old league, haven't been doing as well as usual. Due in part to the losses at North Carolina, where the effects of a couple of bad seasons are being felt, attendance for this group is down more than 10 per cent. . . . . .

On a national scale, the attendance decline doesn't amount to a great deal and the November big games may change the whole situation. The reason most frequently offered to explain the dwindling crowds was "unattractive schedules"—including fewer "big" games and changes in the sites of important contests.

The figures reveal that the members of eleven major conferences, plus 14 "major" independents, have played fewer games so far than they had at this time a year ago. And when the attendance figures are totaled up, the decline in attendance comes out at 3.335 per cent.

Last year in 324 games, the teams drew 7,800,850 spectators, an average of 24,077 per game. This year they have played to 7,168,514 in 308 games, for a 23,274 average—just 803 fewer per game.

Glassford Fears Kansas Running; Pierce Here

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

"We fear Kansas' running game more than the passing," commented Coach Bill Glassford Thursday as he hustled his Nebraska Cornhuskers through a final polishing.

Don Pierce

Glassford pointed to Jayhawk speed, carried by a pair of mercury - hoofed halfbacks in Don Hess and Bob Allison. He beckoned to the fullback power Coach Jules Sikes has mustered in Frank Sabatini and the Grand Island, Neb., transplant, John Anderson.

The possible loss of Bob Oberlin, the Huskers' top defensive center, added fuel to Glassford's fear of a rampant running attack. When Oberlin left the Missouri fray with injuries, the Tigers began pouring through midline.

If Oberlin's sprained ankel does not respond by game time, his spot will be filled by either Jim Oliver or Ted Britt. The hard-working Oliver, after playing well against Illinois, has had defensive lapses.

Otherwise, Glassford said he would stick with the starting lineup he announced earlier in the week, including Bill Schabacker and Andy Loehr, ends; Ted Connor and Jerry Minnick, tackles; Max Kitzelman and either Don Glantz or Bob Wagner, guards; John Bordogna, quarterback; Jon McWilliams and Bob Smith, halfbacks, and Ray Novak, fullback.

Dennis Korinek, the leading ground-gainer, continued as the No. 3 right halfback, behind McWilliams and Jim Yeisley, who doubles at full.

Odds on the game have simmered down to a one-point edge for Kansas.

Don (The Whale) Pierce, erudite Kansas publicity chieftan, arrived in Lincoln as a one-man advance man Thursday. The Jayhawk squad, traveling by train, will not arrive until 10:15 p.m. Friday.

Pierce, a former tackle of no small renown, immediately substantiated Glassford's fear of a ground attack by focusirg his verbs on End Morris Kay. Sair Pierce, as he washed down a coke:

"If there was a Big Seven award for "Comeback of the Year," it would go to Morris Kay, Kansas' grim left end.

"Just a year ago, Kay was hospitalized fighting off a mild attack of polio. Now he is playing as good all-round wing as any candidate in the circuit. Furthermore, he is playing it both ways . . . he formally was a defensive specialist . . . and, through the first six games, logged more than 55 minutes playing time on three occasions.

"The sturdy St. John's senior is likely to suffer in statistical comparisons with other circuit wingmen because pass receiving is the only arithmetical measuring stick for terminals. He has flagged only two for 45 yards. But the Jayhawkers are throwing far less than usual, having put up just 56 heaves through the first six games.

"Furthermore, one of Kay's grabs went for a 20-yard gain to set-up the winning touchdown against Colorado. If the Hawkers' were a passing team, he would gain prominence as a fine receiver. For he owns enough speed and enough agility.

"Be that as it may, Kay is a heavy scorer in the visual and auditory columns with his blocking and tackling. He likewise rates at the top of the graph in determination, leadership and stamina.

"In the latter department, for instance, he had enough left in the fourth quarter at Boulder, despite the 90-degree heat and single-wing battering to chase down Buffalo fullback Emerson Wilson who broke loose for 40 yards with a convoy of blockers ahead of him.

"Said Herd Line Coach Marshall Wells after the game . . . "Want to know who won the game for Kansas? That No. 87 (Kay). Wilson would have gone all the way if he hadn't been caught from behind."

"Kay is a 6-2, 191-pounder with no overbalance of ability in any one department. He is good in all. More important he is mentally tough and physically rugged.

"Fact is, Kay is a prototype in style and character of Hub Ulrich, now Jayhawker terminal coach. who Gwinn Henry labelled "the almost perfect end" back in 1941 when the big guy from Quinter was all-conference with a second division eleven."

Peru Wins Close One From Cats

NEBRASKA CITY — Wayne's surprising Wildcats held the powerful Peru Bobcats on even terms for all but two minutes of their Nebraska College Conference game here Thursday night but the Bobcats won, 13-7.

With two minutes to go in the fourth quarter Peru Quarterback Ned Eckman, on a bootleg pass play, threw to Wendell Holmes in the end zone for the winning touchdown. The play carried 22 yards.

Wayne scored first in a game dominated by rugged line play. With 4:25 to play in the first period Wildcat Halfback Jim Anderson bucked over from the one after a 14-play drive. Don Harris converted from placement.

The TD was set up by a fumble recovery on the Peru 41.

Wayne threats kept the Bobcats off balance until late in the third period.

Wayne's Don Kellogg missed a field goal attempt from the Peru 26 and the Bobcats took over on their own 20 to march 80 yards. The drive almost fizzled when a five-yard offside penalty gave Peru the ball on the one-yard line.

Eckman finally scored on a one-foot sneak over the middle. He converted to tie the score with 1:59 left in the period.

A Peru field-goal attempt in the last period failed on the Wayne 16. When the Wildcats took over, Jerold Dennis fumbled on the 22-yard line and Peru was rolling again. On the next play Eckman tossed to Holmes in the end zone.

Johnny Sain Steps Down

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP)—One of the New York Yankees ace hurlers, Johnny Sain, Thursday announced his retirement from baseball after 11 years of playing in the majors.

The 34-year-old Sain, a winning hurler for the Yankees during the 1953 World Series, said he would devote all his time to managing a Chevrolet automobile agency here.

Sain, who started playing organized baseball in 1936, broke into the majors in 1942 with the old Boston Braves.

Sain said the Yankee management was informed of his plans in a letter mailed this week. He said last spring that he decided "this is my last year."

Sain said he had told Yankee Manager Casey Stengel of his plans when it was apparent the pennant had been clinched in September. He said Stengel was the only man in baseball who knew of his decision.

Links, Rockets, 'Birds At Home

Three Top Games On Local Prep Slate

Friday is a feast night for Capital City grid fans, with three interesting games scheduled on local fields.

Lincoln High, Northeast and Cathedral are home. College View played Wednesday night.

An old gridiron rivalry is renewed at the Oval Friday night when Lincoln High plays Omaha Tech. The teams were old Missouri Valley Conference foes and continued to play after the dissolution of the conference.

Lincoln last played the Maroons in 1950, taking a 39-6 win at the Oval.

Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m. The Links will be favored although Tech may have a weight advantage.

Northeast will open relations with Abraham Lincoln of Council Bluffs at Magee Stadium tonight. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Sporting a 4-3 record the Rockets will be after their second straight win. The Abe Lynx will be rated at least even with Northeast.

The fast Council Bluffs crew owns a 21-13 victory over Tech and has had only one bad game, a 41-6 loss to Creighton Prep.

Filling out the attractive menu is Cathedral's meeting with Weeping Water. In addition to being the last home game of the season for the Bluebirds it is their homecoming game.

Cathedral, with a 4-3 record, will be favored to make it two wins in a row tonight. Eleven Cathedral seniors will be making their last appearance before the home folks. Kick-off is at 8 p.m. at College View Field.

Aroujo Faces Davis

NEW YORK (AP)—George Araujo starts all over again Saturday night in the same ring where he was knocked out by Lightweight Champion Jimmy Carter in his ill-fated title bid. Araujo, a newlywed, gets no soft touch in his Madison Square Garden return. He is matched with Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, who beat him in 10 rounds at Boston, Sept. 10. The 10-round bout, scheduled for 9 u.m., CST, will be carried on network radio (ABC) and television (NBC) coast to coast.

Soothsaying this "platoonless" fall is a mighty risky business.

Go strictly by comparative scores and you're liable to come up with little Colorado A&M (Fort Collins) beating mighty Michigan State.

It goes like this: Colorado A&M beat Kansas State. Kansas State beat Drake. Drake beat Iowa State. Iowa State upset Missouri. Missouri edged Purdue. And Purdue, of course, rocked the football world by snapping Michigan State's 28-game victory streak Saturday.

Colorado A&M over Michigan State—that's what the records say!

We bring this to mind as we issue our prediction on the Nebraska-Kansas business of Saturday. There is no common denominator between the teams, so it's strictly shut your peepers and punch, thus:

Kansas 20, Nebraska 13—This is based strictly on the Huskers' showing against Missouri. Kansas would seem to have too much all-around punch, especially in the blocking and passing departments. If the Huskers are up to their Illinois or Pittsburgh showings, the score could be something like, "Nebraska 27, Kansas 14."

ELSEWHERE BIG SEVEN

Oklahoma 33, Kansas State 20—A real scrap for two quarters.

Colorado 20, Iowa State 14—Buffs bounce back.

Missouri 14, Indiana 13—Tigers launching a real comeback.

Our exclusive pipeline to International News Service dictates the following unguaranteed predictions:

MIDWEST

Notre Dame 28, Navy 7—Title-bound Irish pass another hurdle. (Courtesy Chick Connelly).

Illinois 28, Purdue 0—Illini bring Purdue back to earth.

Michigan 21, Pennylvania 7—Wolverines rebound with fury.

Michiga State 35, Oregon State 7—Spartans back on war path.

Northwestern 21, Ohio State 14—Might go other way.

Minnesota 28, Pittsburgh 14—That man Paul Giel again.

Wisconsin 14, Iowa 13—A toss-up.

SOUTHWEST

Texas A&M 27, Arkansas 7—Aggies back in win column.

Baylor 21, Texas Christian 7—Bears remain undefeated.

Southern Methodist 14, Texas 13—Mustangs in close battle.

Rice 28, Kentucky 14 — Rice has reserve strength.

Oklahoma A&M 21, Tulsa 20—Another tossup.

WEST

UCLA 21, Calif., 20—Bruins can hold the ball.

Stanford 20, Wash. State 14—Indians smell roses.

USC 27, Oregon 7 — Trojans trample Webfoots.

Washington 14, Utah 13—Huskies' hustle takes this one.

SOUTH

Army 20, Tulane 0 — Black Knights surfboard over Green Wave.

Ole Miss 14, Texas Tech 7—Jackie Parker brands the Red Raiders.

Georgia 19, Alabama 13 — Bratkowski concludes his last game in glory.

Auburn 21, Florida 6—Auburn determined to regain prestige after Tech.

North Carolina 14, Tennessee 13—A tossup and a bruising, bitter battle.

Wake Forrest 12, Clemson 7—The Deacs have Sonny George, Clemson a new system.

Duke 28, Virginia 6 — Blue Devils advertise strength after Army faux pas.

Georgia Tech 28, Vanderbilt 0—Tech rests bruises from South Bend tragedy.

Mississippi 13, LSU 6—LSU Tiger fail to check fading effectiveness.

EAST

Miami 27, Fordham 21—Miami ends spell difference. Chance for upset.

Cornell 21, Columbia 14—Cornell line to offset Columbia's passes.

Yale 14, Dartmouth 7—Yale doesn't score much but Dartmouth score less.

Colgate 28, Rutgers 7—Lalla's passes will run Rutgers dizzy.

Brown 21, Princeton 14—Brown on upsurge.

Syracuse 28, Holy Cross 21—H. C. muffs too many chances in clutches.

W. Virginia 21, Penn State 20—This one a toss-up. Edge to stronger bench.

Marquette 28, Boston U. 14—Marquette's been playing much tougher foes.

Harvard 21, Davidson 6—Harvard and Clasby have too much speed.

Boston College 21, Richmond 20—Another toss-up.

By WALLY DeBROWN

A fellow was kibitzing on a football practice earlier this fall, and on one new play the boys were as confused as a stranger at a cross roads. They just didn't understand their assignments. Then.. the coach. said, "Okay,. fellows, lets walk through it." So they did . . . each man learning in slow motion what he had to do. Then the coach gave orders to run the play at full speed. This time everything went smooth as peach fuzz.

This anecdote got us to thinking what a great system this would be for all of us whenever we get all tensed up about some new problems. Instead of rushing wildly ahead, if we'd just take time to "walk through" the problem a few times we'd probably soon find that we could handle it with a minimum amount of misery.

One of the national magazines recently carried an article with the title, "Emotional Upsets Are Good for You." Maybe so . . . but they're tough on everyone around you. What's good for one isn't always good for another. That goes for cars as well as people. There are all kinds of used cars. Don't take a chance. 'I'll Never Fight Again,' Says Tap-Dancing Ray

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sugar Ray Robinson said Thursday he has quit the ring for good. "I'll never fight again," the ex-Champion said, scotching reports that he was weighing an offer to challenge Bobo Olson, the middleweight titleholder.

Robinson who at one time held the welterweight and middleweight championships, retired last Dec. 18 to devote his full talents to his latest love, tap dancing. He's scheduled for a song and dance show here on Sunday.

The first report that Robinson was considering a comeback got out at the start of a barnstorming swing through 30 cities last week. Ray was quoted as saying he'd been offered a sizeable chunk of money to fight Olson.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, denied that Robinson had been offered anything like $300,000 or $350,000 to fight Olson.

But Markson said Robinson would be welcomed back to the ring if he decided on a comeback.

"If I fight again," Robinson said Thursday, "It'll be because somebody hit me when I wasn't looking."

Earlier, he had been quoted as saying he was considering a fat offer from the IBC to go against Olson.

"Jim Norris (the IBC president) originally offered me $300,000 to fight the winner of the Olson-Turpin fight," Robinson said Thursday. "Later, after Norris raised the offer $50,000."

Even for that figure, Robinson asserted, he isn't going back into the fight business. "I quit when I was ahead. I'm going to let it stay that way."

Phog Visits Former Aid

Forrest (Phog) Allen, University of Kansas basketball mentor and long recognized as master among cage coaches, visited Thursday with Irv Peterson, basketball coach at Wesleyan. PAT O'CONNOR

O'Connor Set For Gagne Go

Pat O'Connor, the elusive New Zealander, was tracked down by Promoter Adam Krieger after all.

Krieger had been seeking the services of O'Connor, the television hero, as the foe for World Champion Verne Gagne at the Fairgrounds Tuesday night.

"I finally tracked O'Connor down Thursday," Krieger said. "It was by the long-distance telephone and I had to stretch my terms, but I got him. He'll be here to do business with Gagne."

Gagne and O'Connor will meet in the main event.

In the semi-windup, Leo Numa, the forest ranger from Washington, will meet Emil Dusek of the Omaha roughnecks. Steve McGill, Omaha, meets Maurice Roberre of France in the opener at 8:30.

"The referee shall be Honest John Lehl of Raymond, Neb," proclaimed Krieger. "He is honest and, besides, Gagne has decreed that no Nebraska college men be tooting the whistle."

'We've Gone Overboard In College Sports,' Says Allen

The incomparable Phog Allen, head basketball coach at Kansas University, waxed political Thursday before some 350 education instructors, and charged that "we've gone overboard in college sports."

Phog, who was assistant to the Olympics-winning United States basketball squad, made up partly of his own team, also charged that even though there are controls in college sports, "you still have hypocrites." He added, however, that controls are necessary, and that only in high school is there an even level emphasis.

As holder of 34 consecutive Big Seven basketball conferences, Allen spoke at the Health and Physical Education section of the annual teachers convention.

Phog, also known in sports circles as the "Great Dr. Allen," told the educators that sports is not a "struggle of numbskulls," and that "I go for a Phi Beta Kappa" as an athlete. Pointing out that he coaches basketball "for the boys, not for me," Allen credited the competitive attitude of Americans for their greatness in sports.

He said the greatest impetus to "boys taking part in sports" is the theory of imitation and hero-worship, and a "gang spirit that makes a boy want to play."

Coaching Team Directs Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Ailing Frank Leahy will entrust his unbeaten Notre Dame football team to a "3-D" coaching platoon against Navy's once - defeated Middies here Saturday.

Leahy, who collapsed during the Irish triumph over Georgia Tech last Saturday, Thursday reluctantly agreed to watch his team play Navy over television at this home in nearby Long Beach, Ind.

The Irish, No. 1 in the national Associated Press poll, seek their fifth victory.

Athletic Director Ed ward (Moose) Krause said in Leahy's absence, Joe McArdle, Bill Earley and Bob McBride would direct the Irish from the bench with McArdle the "senior coach."

Two former Irish stars, now assistants, will be the "eyes" of the bench trio. Johnny Lujack, former All America quarterback, will be in the press box, phoning instructions. Terry Brennan, brilliant halfback of the late 1940's, will be on a phone peering out of a score-board hole at one end of the field.

It's Brennan's job to note spacing weakness in the opposing line, much more evident from a head-on view than the press box.

Mantle Undergoes Knee Operation Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' centerfielder, will undergo an operation on his right knee next Monday at Springfield, Mo.

Roy Hamey, assistant general manager of the Yankees, announced Thursday that the operation would be performed by Dr. Dan Yancey, a specialist.

Mantle pulled a cartilege in his right knee in the second game of the 1951 World Series and was out for the rest of the series.

He reinjured the joint last August, missing a week's action. He returned to the lineup, wearing a hinged brace.

The operation will take place at the Berge Hospital in Springfield, Hamey said.

Nicholson Retires

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bill (Swish) Nicholson, veteran 39-year-old outfielder of the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday announced hic retirement as an active major league player.

A graduate of Washington College in his home town of Chestertown, Md., Nicholson spent 15 years in the National League with the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies.

'I'll Never Fight Again,' Says Tap-Dancing Ray

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sugar Ray Robinson said Thursday he has quit the ring for good. "I'll never fight again," the ex-Champion said, scotching reports that he was weighing an offer to challenge Bobo Olson, the middleweight titleholder.

Robinson who at one time held the welterweight and middleweight championships, retired last Dec. 18 to devote his full talents to his latest love, tap dancing. He's scheduled for a song and dance show here on Sunday.

The first report that Robinson was considering a comeback got out at the start of a barnstorming swing through 30 cities last week. Ray was quoted as saying he'd been offered a sizeable chunk of money to fight Olson.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, denied that Robinson had been offered anything like $300,000 or $350,000 to fight Olson.

But Markson said Robinson would be welcomed back to the ring if he decided on a comeback.

"If I fight again," Robinson said Thursday, "It'll be because somebody hit me when I wasn't looking."

Earlier, he had been quoted as saying he was considering a fat offer from the IBC to go against Olson.

"Jim Norris (the IBC president) originally offered me $300,000 to fight the winner of the Olson-Turpin fight," Robinson said Thursday. "Later, after Norris raised the offer $50,000."

Even for that figure, Robinson asserted, he isn't going back into the fight business. "I quit when I was ahead. I'm going to let it stay that way."

Phog Visits Former Aid

Forrest (Phog) Allen, University of Kansas basketball mentor and long recognized as master among cage coaches, visited Thursday with Irv Peterson, basketball coach at Wesleyan. Peterson is a former aid of Allen. Allen was in Lincoln to address a meeting of health and physical education instructors. (Star Photo.)

'We've Gone Overboard In College Sports,' Says Allen

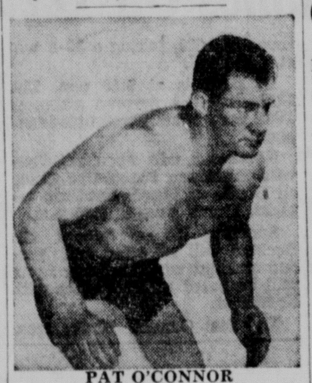
The incomparable Phog Allen, head basketball coach at Kansas University, waxed political Thursday before some 350 education instructors, and charged that "we've gone overboard in college sports."

Phog, who was assistant to the Olympics-winning United States basketball squad, made up partly of his own team, also charged that even though there are controls in college sports, "you still have hypocrites." He added, however, that controls are necessary, and that only in high school is there an even level emphasis.

As holder of 34 consecutive Big Seven basketball conferences, Allen spoke at the Health and Physical Education section of the annual teachers convention.

Phog, also known in sports circles as the "Great Dr. Allen," told the educators that sports is not a "struggle of numbskulls," and that "I go for a Phi Beta Kappa" as an athlete. Pointing out that he coaches basketball "for the boys, not for me," Allen credited the competitive attitude of Americans for their greatness in sports.

He said the greatest impetus to "boys taking part in sports" is the theory of imitation and hero-worship, and a "gang spirit that makes a boy want to play."



PAT O'CONNOR

O'Connor Set For Gagne Go

Pat O'Connor, the elusive New Zealander, was tracked down by Promoter Adam Krieger after all.

Krieger had been seeking the services of O'Connor, the television hero, as the foe for World Champion Verne Gagne at the Fairgrounds Tuesday night.

"I finally tracked O'Connor down Thursday," Krieger said. "It was by the long-distance telephone and I had to stretch my terms, but I got him. He'll be here to do business with Gagne."

Gagne and O'Connor will meet in the main event.

In the semi-windup, Leo Numa, the forest ranger from Washington, will meet Emil Dusek of the Omaha roughnecks. Steve McGill, Omaha, meets Maurice Roberre of France in the opener at 8:30.

"The referee shall be Honest John Lehl of Raymond, Neb," proclaimed Krieger. "He is honest and, besides, Gagne has decreed that no Nebraska college men be tooting the whistle."

Coaching Team Directs Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Ailing Frank Leahy will entrust his unbeaten Notre Dame football team to a "3-D" coaching platoon against Navy's once-defeated Middies here Saturday.

Leahy, who collapsed during the Irish triumph over Georgia Tech last Saturday, Thursday reluctantly agreed to watch his team play Navy over television at this home in nearby Long Beach, Ind.

The Irish, No. 1 in the national Associated Press poll, seek their fifth victory.

Athletic Director Edward (Moose) Krause said in Leahy's absence, Joe McArdle, Bill Earley and Bob McBride would direct the Irish from the bench with McArdle the "senior coach."

Two former Irish stars, now assistants, will be the "eyes" of the bench trio. Johnny Lujack, former All America quarterback, will be in the press box, phoning instructions. Terry Brennan, brilliant halfback of the late 1940's, will be on a phone peering out of a score-board hole at one end of the field.

It's Brennan's job to note spacing weakness in the opposing line, much more evident from a head-on view than the press box.

Mantle Undergoes Knee Operation Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' centerfielder, will undergo an operation on his right knee next Monday at Springfield, Mo.

Roy Hamey, assistant general manager of the Yankees, announced Thursday that the operation would be performed by Dr. Dan Yancey, a specialist.

Mantle pulled a cartilege in his right knee in the second game of the 1951 World Series and was out for the rest of the series.

He reinjured the joint last August, missing a week's action. He returned to the lineup, wearing a hinged brace.

The operation will take place at the Berge Hospital in Springfield, Hamey said.

Nicholson Retires

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bill (Swish) Nicholson, veteran 39-year-old outfielder of the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday announced hic retirement as an active major league player.

A graduate of Washington College in his home town of Chestertown, Md., Nicholson spent 15 years in the National League with the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies.

Concordia Linemen Hard To Move

Tough to move is what opponents have found to be true of these Concordia College linemen. Harold Zimbrick, left, of Alamogordo, N. M. and Wilbur Tewes, McPherson, Kan., have had much to do with Concordia College's fine defensive record this season. Zimbrick is a letterman at guard, and Tewes is playing center in his first year of college ball.

Husker Frosh Intrasquad Game Is Slated For Today

Coach Bob Faris' Nebraska freshman footballers will have their second intra squad game at the freshman field Friday afternoon. The first game ended in a 12-12 tie. The squad has been divided differently for this second contest.

Faris said his charges would run from the "T" formation this week. In an earlier contest they used the single wing.

Divided into Red and White squads, the teams look like this:

RED

Ends—Maurice DeBoer, Goodland, Kan.; LeRoy Butherus, Lincoln.
Tackles — Jerry Petersen, Cambridge; William Krommenhock, Sioux City, Ia.; Norbert Kmock, Leigh; John Wilkinson, Lincoln.
Guards—Pat Hoyt, Cozad; Jim Murphy, Columbus; Bill Brown, Cambridge.
Center—Bob Berquin, Sioux Falls, S. D.
Quarterbacks—Robert Walsh, Lyndhurst, N. J.; Gordon Enklert, Sioux Falls, S. D.
Halfbacks—Dick Harkins, Worland, Wyo.; Joe Williams, Lincoln; Paul Olson, Hickman; Williams Greenlaw, Portland, Me.; Jack Moore, Mt. Vernon, Ia.; Tom Kaufman, Bladen.
Fullbacks—Don Schmid, Columbus; Dorwin Blair, Cozad.

WHITE

Ends—Alan Delnes, Scottsbluff; Phil Montagano, Johnston, R. I.; Howard Smith, Lewistown, Ill.; Ted Westervelt, Scottsbluff.
Tackles Joe Kobza, Ulysses; Jerry Warren, Spray, N. C.; Jack Fleming, Kimball; Richard Yost, Clay Center; James Carr, Springview.
Guards—Joe Bayer, Minden; Larry Jones, Sidney; Bob MacDonald, Bayard; Bill shaver, Grand Island; Doug Marcy, Lakeside.
Centers—LaVerne Torczon, Platte Center; Roger Hohensee, Dayton.
Quarterbacks Charles Smith, Franklin, N. J.; Don Erway, Lincoln; Berl Spencer, Broken Bow.

Wilber One Shy Of Pinch Homer Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Del Wilber of the Boston Red Sox just missed tying an American League record for pinch-hit home runs in a season when he hit four during 1953, most in the majors.

The 34-year-old reserve catcher failed by one to equal the record of five pinch-hit home runs in a season set by Joe Cronin of the Red Sox in 1943. The major league mark is six held by Johnny Frederick of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1932.

Associated Press statistics disclosed that utility infielders Grady Hatton of the Cincinnati Redlegs and Bobby Hofman of the New York Giants led the National League in pinch-hit homers with three each.

The major leagues produced 58 pinch-hit home runs in 1953, 29 in each league.

Ben Hogan 'Pro Golfer Of Year'

CHICAGO (AP) — Ben Hogan Thursday won by an overwhelming margin the PGA honor as "Professional Golfer of the Year."

Hogan, winning the award for the fourth time, was named on a record-breaking 803 ballots from PGA members and the nation's sports writers.

Lew Worsham, who holed an eagle 2 to win the Tam O'Shanter "world" title and accompanying $25,000 check, was mentioned on 55 ballots. Walter Burkemo, 1953 PGA titlist, was third with 22 votes.

The other votes were distributed among Lloyd Mangrum (7), Doug Ford and Chandler Harper (5), Porky Oliver, Sam Snead and Horton Smith (3), and Dutch Harrison (2).

Backfield Problems Bother Wesleyan

SCHEDULE
Friday
Doane at Kearney
Concordia at Dana
Scottsbluff JC at La Junta, Colo.
Saturday
Wesleyan at Hastings
N. Illinois at Omaha
Luther at Sterling
Fairbury JC at Tyler, Tex.

Nebraska Wesleyan University will still have backfield problems when the Plainsmen travel to Hastings Saturday night.

The Painsmen wound up drills for the Bronco invasion Thursday, faced with the prospect that Classy Cliff Kahl, their number one backfield star will probably be missing his third straight game.

Kahl's injured leg has failed to respond and Coach Roy Robertson said the ex-Big Springs High School star remains on the "very doubtful" list. Even should he play, the speedy Wesleyan sophomore would hardly be in shape for game rigors, for he has drilled lightly in sweat clothes throughout the week.

Robertson said Bill Buck, who was outstanding in his initial quarterbacking assignment of the season against Kearney last week, will retain the signal calling job despite the return of Rollie Wiegers to action.

With Marvin Maey definitely out, Robertson is expected to field a backfield composed of Buck, Wiegers, Ron Steele and Sanford Nelson. Wiegers may get some signal calling duty when Phil Lightbody and Rex Kellough are moved into the game.

Ron Keefer, junior and from Wahoo, is also on the doubtful list with an injured knee and Robertson said his senior flankers, Gordon Marts and Dick Nagele will get the starting nod.

Elsewhere in the line Robertson is expected to use Durward Van Cleve and Chuck Lanik at tackle; Don Keller and Blaine Rieke at guard and Boyd Thompson at center as the starting unit.

Robertson said Van Cleave will serve with Marts as Plainsmen co-captains in the traditional game with the Broncos.

He named the following 36 men to the traveling squad:

TACKLES—Roger Harbert, Frank Hladik, Charles Lanik, Bill Minchow, Durward Van Cleave.
GUARDS—Bob Atkins, Mack Hunt, Don Keller, Larry Lind, Blaine Rieke, Jack Wilfang, George McCabe.
CENTERS—Roger Barry, Curtis Georgeson, Leon Taylor, Boyd Thompson.
BACKS—Bill Buck, James Byrd, Dewaine Crewdson, Lloyd Hunter, Clif Kahl, Rex Kellough, Gene Krause, Phil Lightbody, Darrell McGowen, Sanford Nelson, Ron Steele, Rollie Wiegers.

Midget Loop Race Down To The Wire

The championship of the Lincoln Jaycee-sponsored Pop Warner Midget Football League will be decided Saturday when league-leading Downtown plays second-place South Street in the final game of the season for each team.

Roberts and Northeast play in the other half of the doubleheader, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Lincoln High oval.

Downtown has a 5-0 record. South Street has a 4-1 slate, having lost only to Downtown in their previous meeting. Downtown must win to sew up the title. If South Street wins, the two teams will play off the tie later.

Syracuse University elects game captains each week. Permanent grid captains are elected at the end of the season.

Concordia Linemen Hard To Move

Tough to move is what opponents have found to be true of these Concordia College linemen. Harold Zimbrick, left, of Alamogordo, N. M. and Wilbur Tewes, McPherson, Kan., have had much to do with Concordia College's fine defensive record this season. Zimbrick is a letterman at guard, and Tewes is playing center in his first year of college ball.

Husker Frosh Intrasquad Game Is Slated For Today

Coach Bob Faris' Nebraska freshman footballers will have their second intra squad game at the freshman field Friday afternoon. The first game ended in a 12-12 tie. The squad has been divided differently for this second contest.

Faris said his charges would run from the "T" formation this week. In an earlier contest they used the single wing.

Divided into Red and White squads, the teams look like this:

RED

Ends—Maurice DeBoer, Goodland, Kan.; LeRoy Butherus, Lincoln.
Tackles — Jerry Petersen, Cambridge; William Krommenhock, Sioux City, Ia.; Norbert Kmock, Leigh; John Wilkinson, Lincoln.
Guards—Pat Hoyt, Cozad; Jim Murphy, Columbus; Bill Brown, Cambridge.
Center—Bob Berguin, Sioux Falls, S. D.
Quarterbacks—Robert Walsh, Lyndhurst, N. J.; Gordon Englert, Sioux Falls, S. D.
Halfbacks—Dick Harkins, Worland, Wyo.; Joe Williams, Lincoln; Paul Olson, Hickman; Williams Greenlaw, Portland, Me.; Jack Moore, Mt. Vernon, Ia.; Tom Kaufman, Bladen.
Fullbacks—Don Schmid, Columbus; Dorwin Blair, Cozad.

WHITE

Ends—Alan Deines, Scottsbluff; Phil Montagano, Johnston, R. I.; Howard Smith, Lewistown, Ill.; Ted Westervelt, Scottsbluff.
Tackles—Joe Kobza, Ulysses; Jerry Warren, Spray, N. C.; Jack Fleming, Kimball; Richard Yost, Clay Center; James Carr, Springview.
Guards—Joe Bayer, Minden; Larry Jones, Sidney; Bob MacDonald, Bayard; Bill Shaver, Grand Island; Doug Marcy, Lakeside.
Centers—LaVerne Torczon, Platte Center; Roger Hohensee, Daykin.
Quarterbacks—Charles Smith, Franklin, N. J.; Don Erway, Lincoln; Berl Spencer, Broken Bow.
Halfbacks—Dave Koile, Omaha; Ron Noel, Grand Island; Harry Johnson, Valley; Jan Strickland, Villisca, Ia.
Fullbacks—Dean Roelle, Litchfield; Phil Neff, Huntingdon, Pa.

Lettermen Get In Free

All Lincoln High lettermen are entitled to one free ticket to Friday night's Lincoln-Omaha Tech game at the Oval. Tickets may be picked up at the Lincoln High School office before 5 p.m. Friday.

Wilber One Shy Of Pinch Homer Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Del Wilber of the Boston Red Sox just missed tying an American League record for pinch-hit home runs in a season when he hit four during 1953, most in the majors.

The 34-year-old reserve catcher failed by one to equal the record of five pinch-hit home runs in a season set by Joe Cronin of the Red Sox in 1943. The major league mark is six held by Johnny Frederick of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1932.

Associated Press statistics disclosed that utility infielders Grady Hatton of the Cincinnati Redlegs and Bobby Hofman of the New York Giants led the National League in pinch-hit homers with three each.

The major leagues produced 58 pinch-hit home runs in 1953, 29 in each league.

Ben Hogan 'Pro Golfer Of Year'

CHICAGO (AP) — Ben Hogan Thursday won by an overwhelming margin the PGA honor as "Professional Golfer of the Year."

Hogan, winning the award for the fourth time, was named on a record-breaking 803 ballots from PGA members and the nation's sports writers.

Lew Worsham, who holed an eagle 2 to win the Tam O'Shanter "world" title and accompanying $25,000 check, was mentioned on 55 ballots. Walter Burkemo, 1953 PGA titlist, was third with 22 votes.

The other votes were distributed among Lloyd Mangrum (7), Doug Ford and Chandler Harper (5), Porky Oliver, Sam Snead and Horton Smith (3), and Dutch Harrison (2).

Backfield Problems Bother Wesleyan

SCHEDULE
Friday
Doane at Kearney
Concordia at Dana
Scottsbluff JC at La Junta, Colo.
Saturday
Wesleyan at Hastings
N. Illinois at Omaha
Luther at Sterling
Fairbury JC at Tyler, Tex.

Nebraska Wesleyan University will still have backfield problems when the Plainsmen travel to Hastings Saturday night.

The Painsmen wound up drills for the Bronco invasion Thursday, faced with the prospect that Classy Cliff Kahl, their number one backfield star will probably be missing his third straight game.

Kahl's injured leg has failed to respond and Coach Roy Robertson said the ex-Big Springs High School star remains on the "very doubtful" list. Even should he play, the speedy Wesleyan sophomore would hardly be in shape for game rigors, for he has drilled lightly in sweat clothes throughout the week.

Robertson said Bill Buck, who was outstanding in his initial quarterbacking assignment of the season against Kearney last week, will retain the signal calling job despite the return of Rollie Wiegers to action.

With Marvin Maey definitely out, Robertson is expected to field a backfield composed of Buck, Wiegers, Ron Steele and Sanford Nelson. Wiegers may get some signal calling duty when Phil Lightbody and Rex Kellough are moved into the game.

Ron Keefer, junior and from Wahoo, is also on the doubtful list with an injured knee and Robertson said his senior flankers, Gordon Marts and Dick Nagele will get the starting nod.

Elsewhere in the line Robertson is expected to use Durward Van Cleve and Chuck Lanik at tackle; Don Keller and Blaine Rieke at guard and Boyd Thompson at center as the starting unit.

Robertson said Van Cleave will serve with Marts as Plainsmen co-captains in the traditional game with the Broncos.

He named the following 36 men to the traveling squad:

TACKLES—Roger Harbert, Frank Hladik, Charles Lanik, Bill Minchow, Durward Van Cleave.
GUARDS—Bob Atkins, Mack Hunt, Don Keller, Larry Lind, Blaine Rieke, Jack Wiltfang, George McCabe.
CENTERS—Roger Barry, Curtis Georgeson, Leon Taylor, Boyd Thompson.
BACKS—Bill Buck, James Byrd, Dewaine Crewdson, Lloyd Hunter, Clif Kahl, Rex Kellough, Gene Krause, Phil Lightbody, Darrell McGowen, Sanford Nelson, Ron Steele, Rollie Wiegers.

Midget Loop Race Down To The Wire

The championship of the Lincoln Jaycee-sponsored Pop Warner Midget Football League will be decided Saturday when league-leading Downtown plays second-place South Street in the final game of the season for each team.

Roberts and Northeast play in the other half of the doubleheader, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Lincoln High oval.

Downtown has a 5-0 record. South Street has a 4-1 slate, having lost only to Downtown in their previous meeting. Downtown must win to sew up the title. If South Street wins, the two teams will play off the tie later.

Syracuse University elects game captains each week. Permanent grid captains are elected at the end of the season.

North Platte Faces Hospital Loss If Building Not Replaced

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Residents of North Platte Thursday faced the problem of replacing their present Memorial Hospital facilities or being without sufficient hospital facilities.

Verne A. Pangborn, director of the Hospital Division of the State Board of Health, notified Paul Finnman, administrator of Memorial Hospital:

Unless the campaign for funds for a new Memorial Hospital building is successful and steps taken promptly to replace the present biulding, "then this office must seriously consider action to close your institution as a general hospital.

"It appears that the seriousness of this situation may not be sufficiently impressed upon you and your board of trustees," Finnman quoted a letter from Pangborn as saying.

Memorial Hospital is operating under a provisional license.

Earlier this year, a federal inspection report indicated that a minimum of 135 hospital beds were needed for North Platte and area. At the same time, a survey showed only 105 beds in both Memorial and St. Mary's Hospitals.

Plans had been instituted to build a new $700,000 Memorial Hospital building, of which $350,000 would have been supplied by the federal government undtr the Hill-Burton Act.

North Platte and the surrounding area were to raise $250,000 and the Lutheran Hospitals and Homes Society, sponsor of Memorial, was to add the remaining.

A popular subscription campaign was started last spring to raise the needed funds, but it died out during the summer. Now, officials said, $75,000 is needed to complete North Platte's share of the $700,000 project.

A stepped-up campaign to obtain the needed funds was under way Thursday.

County Attorney Wagener Investigating Possibility Of Tax Fund Recovery

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The possibility that Lancaster County may be able to recover the estimated $50,000 - $60,000 "lost" gas tax funds because of the state treasurer's admitted failure to use the latest available census and car registration figures is being investigated by Co. Atty. Frederick Wagener.

"I don't relish the fact the county has lost some money, regardless of the circumstances," said Wagener, indicating Thursday the two lines of his investigation.

'Honest One'

The money is just as "wrongfully lost" whether because of a mistake or intentional wrongdoing, he said. "However, there's no doubt the mistake was an honest one on the facts."

He said his staff is making a legal study of the statutory duties of the state treasurer and the conditions of his bond to determine the extent of liability and avenues of recovery against the bonding company or companies.

(State Treasurer Frank Heintze is under $1 million bond. Similar bonds are provided for other state officials handling funds.)

(Allocations previous to October, 1953, have been made with a formula using the 1940 census and 1949 registration figures. Heintze has said 1950 census and 1952 registration figures will be used for October computations.)

Wagener said he understood that State Auditor Ray Johnson's office also has some responsibility in processing gas tax allocations.

Future Tax

He indicated he has not ruled out the possibility that future gas tax allocations may be used to help underpaid counties strike the equitable balance.

(State Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck has said he doubted any "lost" funds could be recovered by the county from the state.)

In answer to an inquiry by Wegener, Lancaster County Treasurer C. E. Berg has said:

"This office has no way of knowing what gas funds are collected by the state or what amount is available for distribution to the various counties, nor do we know on what basis the allocation is made by the state."

"No demand is made or filed by the county for its share of this tax," he said. "All state funds apportioned to the counties (various tax funds indicated) are remitted by the state with no action required of the county."

Berg said his office had been using the 1950 census to make distribution within the county since August, 1951. (The state treasurer remarked his office had not until recently received the final 1950 census figures).

Apparently all Lancaster County officials, with the exception of Co. Engineer Louis Weaver, were taken completely by surprise to learn the county was losing these funds.

Weaver said that he was aware that the county was losing some money from the use of the 1940 figures, but that he didn't realize the figure was so high.

He added that he didn't take any action on the matter because he realized that "rural census figures . . . are very slow in being computed" and assumed the state treasurer would use the 1950 figures as soon as they were available.

Commissioner Chris Kuhner commented that "if I had had any idea of this, there would have been little lost motion in finding out about it."

Kuhner said he did not know the formula used to compute the gas tax allocations. The board must depend largely upon responsible office heads for information or facts of a technical nature, he added.

Russell Brehm, board chairman, stated that the board would take no action in the matter until it has heard Tuesday from the county attorney. Also, said Brehm, board members will want to discuss the situation with Weaver before acting.

"If we really lost $53,000," said Brehm, "it certainly isn't right."

Commissioner Chauncey Barney was out-of-town and unavailable for comment.

City officials, meanwhile, took note of their possible loss by citing the city's need for the gas tax funds.

Finance Director Theo Berg noted that the city received $73,000 this year as its share of the gas tax fund. Berg, however, would not hazard a guess as to how much the city may have lost out on.

City Engineer D. L. Erickson pointed out that Lincoln is relying entirely upon gas tax revenue and auto registration fees for construction and surfacing during the coming year. It was pointed out that those funds will be the only source of revenue for matching federal funds for construction of the southeast diagonal.

Missouri River Flow Reduction Slated

OMAHA (AP)—The normal seasonal reduction of water releases from two big dams in the Upper Missouri Basin—Fort Peck in Montana and Fort Randall in South Dakota—will begin Friday.

But Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, chief of the Corps of Engineers for the Missouri River Division, said Thursday the reduced flow would be adequate to meet winter needs as established by co-operative studies of the states bordering the river and the U.S. Public Health Service.

This seasonal reduction of reservoir flows is necessary to conserve water to future low flow periods and to reduce river discharges to safe levels for the winter freeze-up, he explained.

Fort Peck reservoir releases, re-regulated at Fort Randall, have provided 70 to 75 per cent of the flow in the Missouri River below Sioux City, Ia., for the past several months during an extended dry period.

This water, stored from floods and mountain snow melt last spring and early summer, has made possible the most successful navigation season in modern times on the lower Missouri, Gen. Potter said.

More than 145,000 tons of commercial freight were handled by barge on the Missouri in the navigation season now drawing to a close.

The reduction of releases at Fort Peck and Fort Randall will lower the river gradually during the next two or three weeks, he said. It will result in a drop of about one-third from present levels.

The flow at Omaha, for example, has averaged 33,000 cubic feet per second during October. Based on a continuation of present dry weather, Gen. Potter said the flow will drop to about 10,000 cubic feet per second, a fall of about 5 feet in the river stage.

Rep. Miller Urges Benson To Delay SCS Reorganization

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) Thursday urged Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson to delay making any changes in the Soil Conservation Service "until interested parties have had time to carefully study all the proposals."

In a telegram to Benson, Rep. Miller said: "Due to the uncertainty and lack of information on the proposed changes in the Soil Conservation Service, I strongly urge that you postpone effecting the reorganization of this service until interested parties have had time to carefully study all proposals."

Speaking at one of his "government clinics" at St. Paul earlier Rep. Miller said he thought the Soil Conservation Service would emerge much stronger under the reorganization plan.

"Conservation is needed today more than ever before because the population of the United States is rapidly reaching the point where we will not be able to raise enough food to feed all of our people."

Gas Tax Collections Reach $1,699,356

The State Department of Agriculture reported that October gas tax collections in the state reached $1,699,356 as compared with $2,762,332 in September. The decrease was 2 per cent under September but the October collections this year—with a higher tax—were 18 per cent over last year.

Refunds totaled $338,634 to farmers, $16,016 on aircraft fuel and $29,764 on exports.

Wayne Mother Saves Her Son From Creek

WAYNE, Neb.—Mrs. Ed Mann, unable to swim herself, rescued her 2-year-old son, Terry, from a creek near the Mann farm.

When it was discovered the youngster was missing, Mrs. Mann rushed to the creek and after spotting the child in the water she plunged in and pulled the boy to safety. Mrs. Mann was unable to explain how the feat was accomplished since the water was over her head.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at are upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

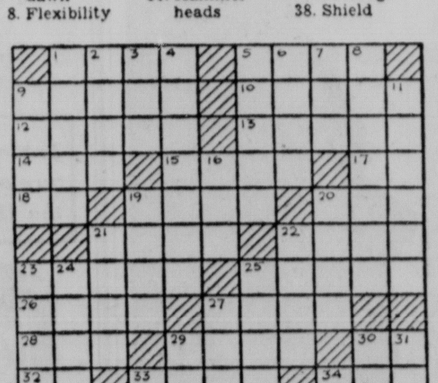
Yesterday's Answer



ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kiernan

(Distributed by International News Service)

Kiernan

We've come a long way in our concept of government obligations . . . years ago a growing season of little rain was blamed on unusual weather conditions, today there is more than a little suspicion that Washington is responsible and should pay for it.

☆ ☆ ☆

Ezra Benson keeps insisting he didn't know it was going to be a dry year and farm spokesmen keep saying, "How come you don't have an umbrella and hip boots in your office?"

☆ ☆ ☆

We may have had unloved presidents but any man who takes the job as Secretary of Agriculture is wading into a bee's nest without a mask or gloves.

☆ ☆ ☆

He can't be right even when he is and there are some who say that Brannan had hair when he took office . . . and everybody knows what happened to his hair and his potatoes.

Mr. Benson still has hair, but he's still new and it should be gone before we shuck the next corn.

☆ ☆ ☆

As to the "Farm Problem" the Bible talks about providing for the lean years in the fat years, but who can you get to admit that he has ever had a fat year?

☆ ☆ ☆

Fat heads we got, but fat years are harder to identify.

QUIRKS

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP) — Richard (Bud) Lowell, a traffic policeman planned to celebrate the birth of his first son, Richard Jr., now five days old.

Lowell, who has four daughters aged six to 13 years, announced he would pass out cigars, an even dozen of them. They were attached to the first 12 parking tickets in his pack.

☆ ☆ ☆

ST. CATHERINES, Ont. (AP) — D. A. Dalzeil, a farm implement dealer, had so much trouble with safecrackers that he left the combination on a piece of paper pasted to the company's front door so thieves wouldn't damage the dial. The empty safe was stolen.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at are upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A X Y L D L A A R
is L O N G F E L L O W

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kiernan

(Distributed by International News Service)

We've come a long way in our concept of government obligations . . . years ago a growing season of little rain was blamed on unusual weather conditions, today there is more than a little suspicion that Washington is responsible and should pay for it.

Kiernan

☆ ☆ ☆

Ezra Benson keeps insisting he didn't know it was going to be a dry year and farm spokesmen keep saying, "How come you don't have an umbrella and hip boots in your office?"

☆ ☆ ☆

We may have had unloved presidents but any man who takes the job as Secretary of Agriculture is wading into a bee's nest without a mask or gloves.

☆ ☆ ☆

He can't be right even when he is and there are some who say that Brannan had hair when he took office . . . and everybody knows what happened to his hair and his potatoes.

Mr. Benson still has hair, but he's still new and it should be gone before we shuck the next corn.

☆ ☆ ☆

As to the "Farm Problem" the Bible talks about providing for the lean years in the fat years, but who can you get to admit that he has ever had a fat year?

☆ ☆ ☆

Fat heads we got, but fat years are harder to identify.

QUIRKS

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP) — Richard (Bud) Lowell, a traffic policeman planned to celebrate the birth of his first son, Richard Jr., now five days old.

Lowell, who has four daughters aged six to 13 years, announced he would pass out cigars, an even dozen of them. They were attached to the first 12 parking tickets in his pack.

☆ ☆ ☆

ST. CATHERINES, Ont. (AP)—D. A. Dalzell, a farm implement dealer, had so much trouble with safecrackers that he left the combination on a piece of paper pasted to the company's front door so thieves wouldn't damage the dial. The empty safe was stolen.

Market Advance Raises All Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced strongly Thursday with a final surge ahead that put prices up all around.

Virtually all sections of the market joined in the rise which was especially pronounced in motors, railroads, and oils, with good gains shown in steels, coppers, aircrafts, and some utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.20, one of the better gains of the year, and it closed at $107.40. The industrial and railroad components of the average each were up $1.40, and the utilities were up 20 cents.

Volume mounted rapidly on the rise and came to 1,610,000 shares as compared with 1,260,000 shares traded Wednesday.

Market Adveance Raises All Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced strongly Thursday with a final surge ahead that put prices up all around.

Virtually all sections of the market joined in the rise which was especially pronounced in motors, railroads, and oils, with good gains shown in steels, coppers, aircrafts, and some utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.20, one of the better gains of the year, and it closed at $107.40. The industrial and railroad components of the average each were up $1.40, and the utilities were up 20 cents.

Volume mounted rapidly on the rise and came to 1,610,000 shares as compared with 1,260,000 shares traded Wednesday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Some late afternoon profit taking cut into the bond market advance Thursday.

All sections of the corporate list moved forward as volume increased to $3,575,000 par value from $3,312,000 Wednesday. Utilities were especially strong. High grade industrials and railroads also made progress.

Intermediate U.S. Government bonds followed the new 2¾ per cent issue upward. The rest of the Treasury list was steady. Trading over the counter on a "when issued" basis, the seven-year 10-month 2¾s were 26 32nds above their par value selling price to 100 26/32 bid.

Foreign liens were generally calm.

Missouri Pacific railroad bonds and 5ts subsidiary, International Great Northern, found substantial report. Mopac General 4s jumped three points at 97 and the convertible 5½s rose 2¾ points at 84¾.

President Favors Election Of All GOP Candidates

Controversial Paul Troast Included In Endorsement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House disclosed Thursday that President Eisenhower—far from remaining completely aloof from partisan politics—favors the election of all Republican candidates for office.

The White House made it clear that goes for Paul Troast, Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey, who sparked a controversy when it was disclosed he sought clemency for a convicted New York racketeer.

The latest clarification of Eisenhower's views came from White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty in elaborating on a discussion of politics at the President's news conference Wednesday.

Hagerty said he had received numerous inquiries whether Eisenhower was taking a slap at Troast in commenting on a recent incident in New Jersey in which the President posed with Troast for pictures.

At his news conference Wednesday, reporters asked Eisenhower whether he was aware, at the time the picture was taken, that Troast had written a letter to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York interceding for Joey Fay, New York labor leader, now serving a term in prison.

Another Group

Eisenhower replied that he had never heard of Fay at the time. He said he had gone to New Jersey to address a church group and had been asked to pose for pictures with another group—the one in which Troast appeared with the President.

Hagerty then went on to shed new light on Eisenhower's attitude toward the political wars. Some Republicans have expressed dismay at what they interpreted as a hand-off policy ever since Eisenhower remarked at his Oct. 21 news conference that he wasn't going to use the presidency as an agency in partisan elections.

The statement was widely regarded as meaning that Eisenhower planned to keep almost entirely away from political campaigning — an outlook that disturbed some GOP leaders girding for next year's battle for control of Congress.

However, Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that of course he was interested in keeping the Republicans in control of Congress. Moreover, he indicated he might take part in the 1954 election campaign on a limited scale.

Hagerty said Thursday Eisenhower was speaking of the necessity, as he put it, of electing Republican members to Congress on the record the administration has built.

"Just so there is no misunderstanding, that applies to other candidates who are running for office on the Republican ticket," Hagerty said.

"Anywhere?" a reporter asked.

"Yes," Hagerty said.

La Rosa To Have His Own CBS Radio Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Julius La Rosa, ousted last week from Arthur Godfrey's radio-TV family, will have a radio show of his own.

Beginning Monday, Nov. 9, the singer will be heard each Monday, Wednesday and Friday over the CBS radio network from 6:35 to 6:45 p.m. CST, said Lester Gottlieb, CBS radio vice president in charge of network programs, Thursday.

Real Estate Group Gives Warning On Illegal Salesmen

The Nebraska Real Estate Commission has issued a warning to all property owners in the state of guard against non-licensed persons who contact them relative to the sale of property.

According to the commission, "a representative of an out-state concern asks a prospective customer to list his business with his firm which will give it extensive national advertisiing through catalogs, newspapers and radio.

"The customer is then asked to sign a 'listing contract' which calls for the payment of an advance retainer fee. According to the contract, the owner may sell the property himself, but he loses the initial fee he paid. And if the company sells the property, the advance fee is applied to the total commission."

Since many complaints have been received by persons who claim they have paid the fee and have received little or no service, the commission advises everyone to check with the salesmen to see if they have state real estate licenses. If they don't it means they may not legally work in Nebraska.
